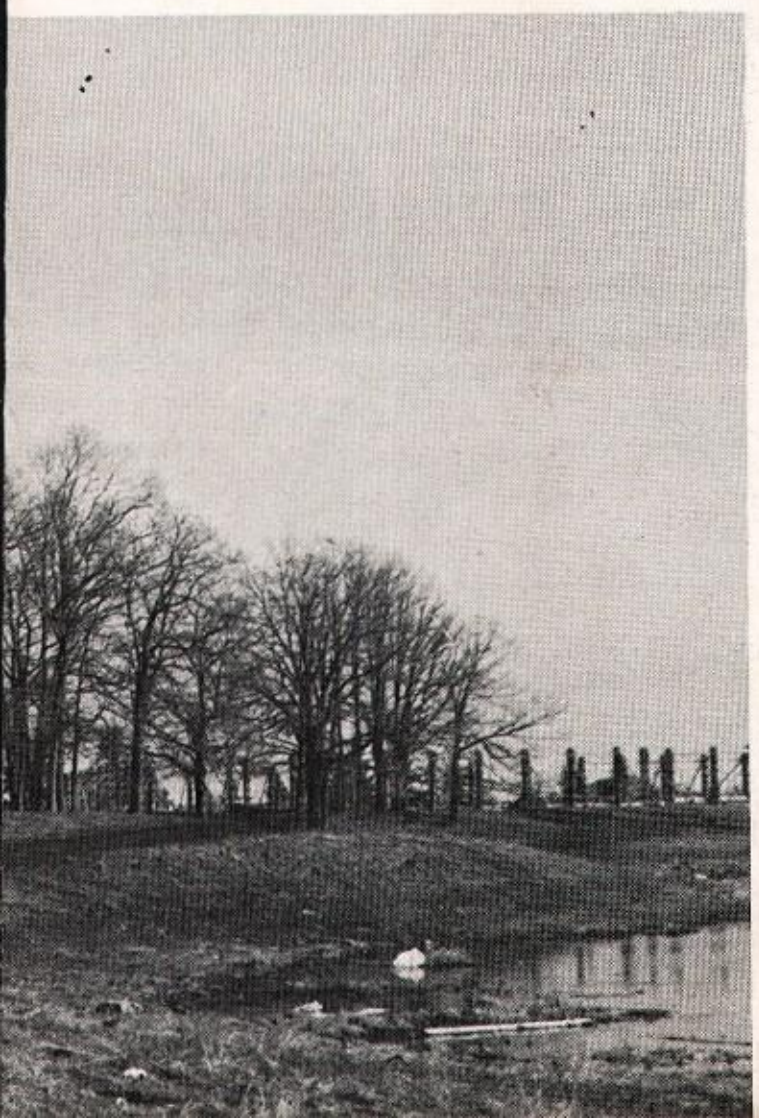
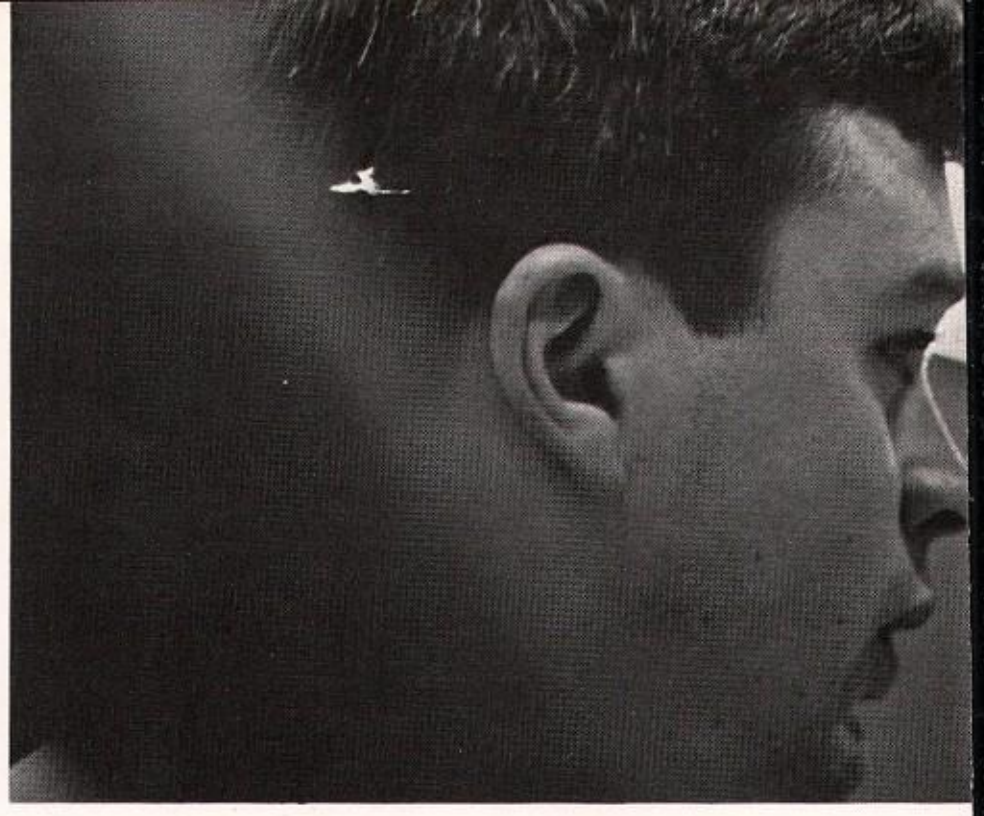
Growth" Enjoyed by the School



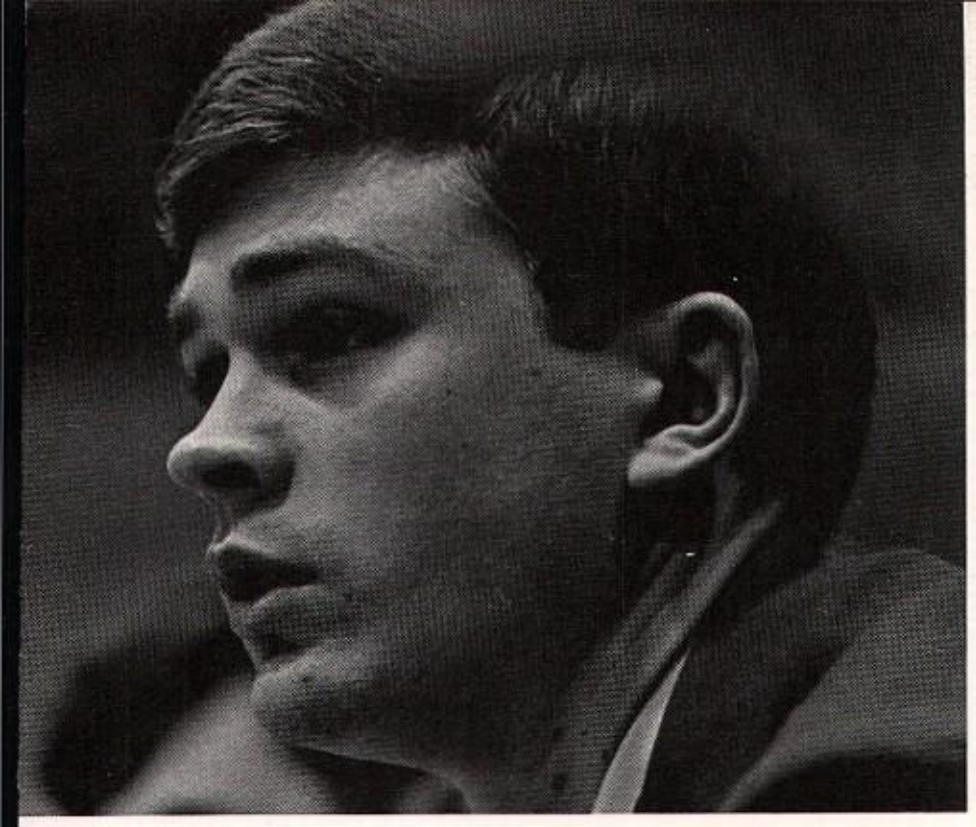
"GROWING"

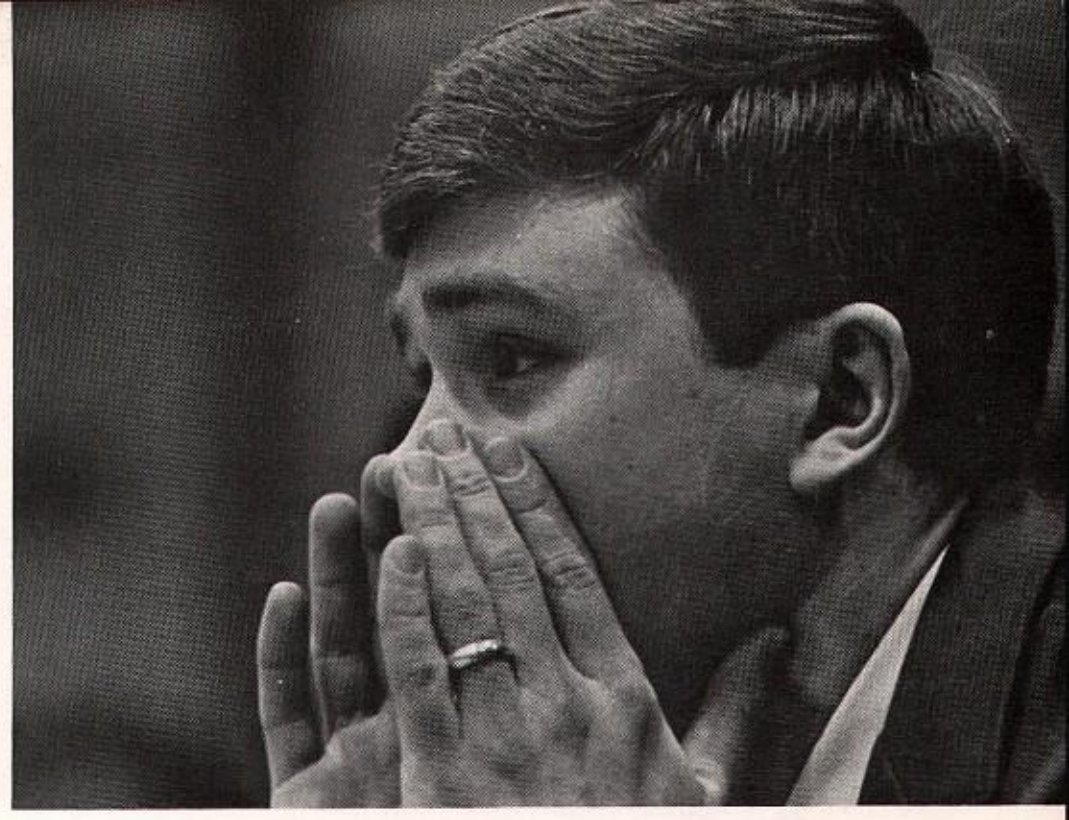
That is the word which best characterizes the 1970 school year at Washington High School.

In a physical sense the school was transformed from five ramshackled portables into one of the most ultra-modern institutions of high school learning. Included in this was a campus composed of round classroom buildings and a field-house facility unique in its construction and use.



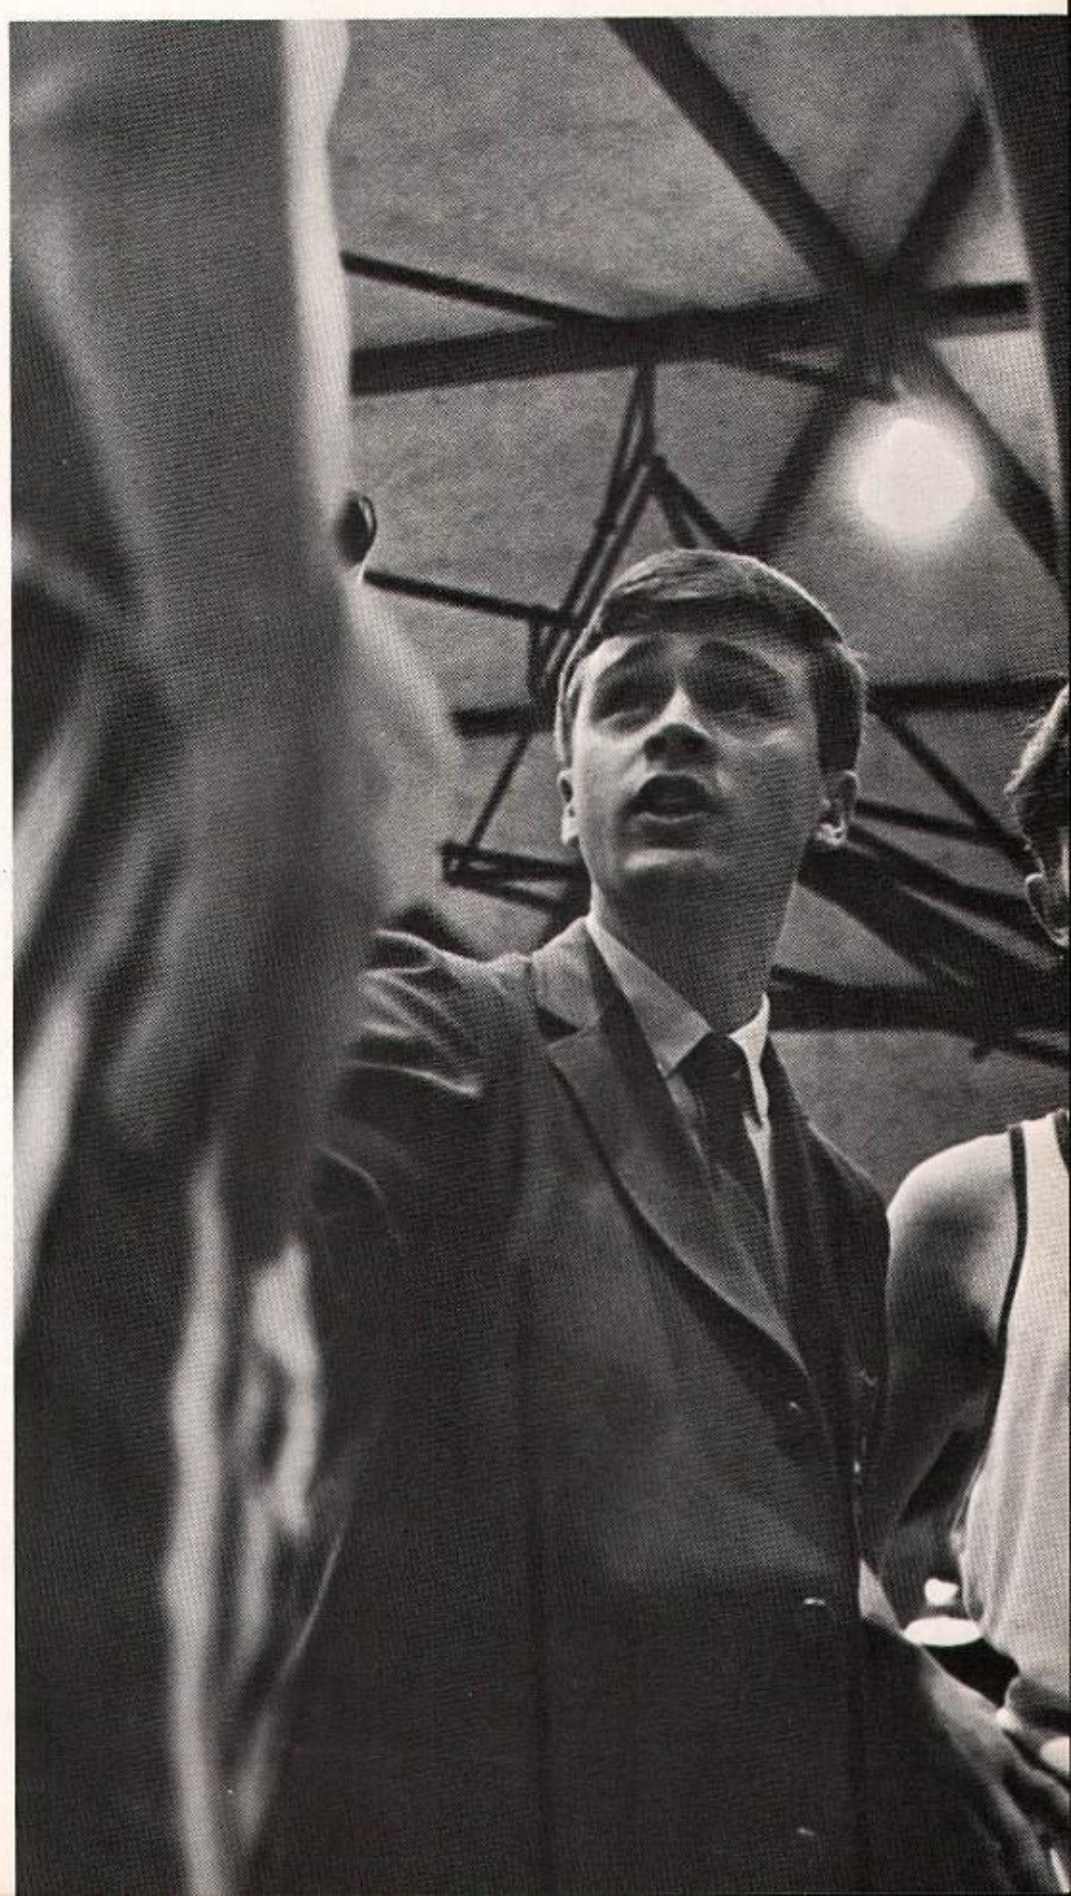
Patriots Gain Valuable Experience in



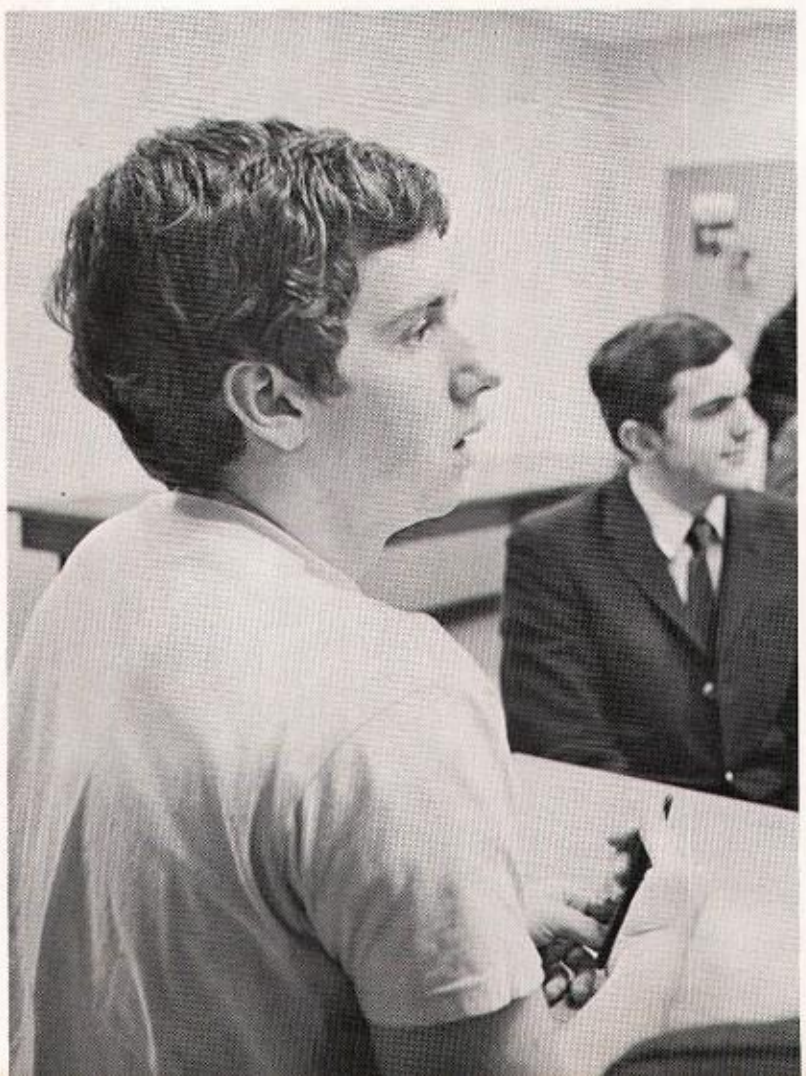


Hard Competition

In athletics this was the year of maturing. The Patriots jumped from sophomore and junior varsity scheduling into the heart of the tough SPSL varsity schedules. Hopes were high but often downtrodden by defeat at the hands of more experienced and aged foes.



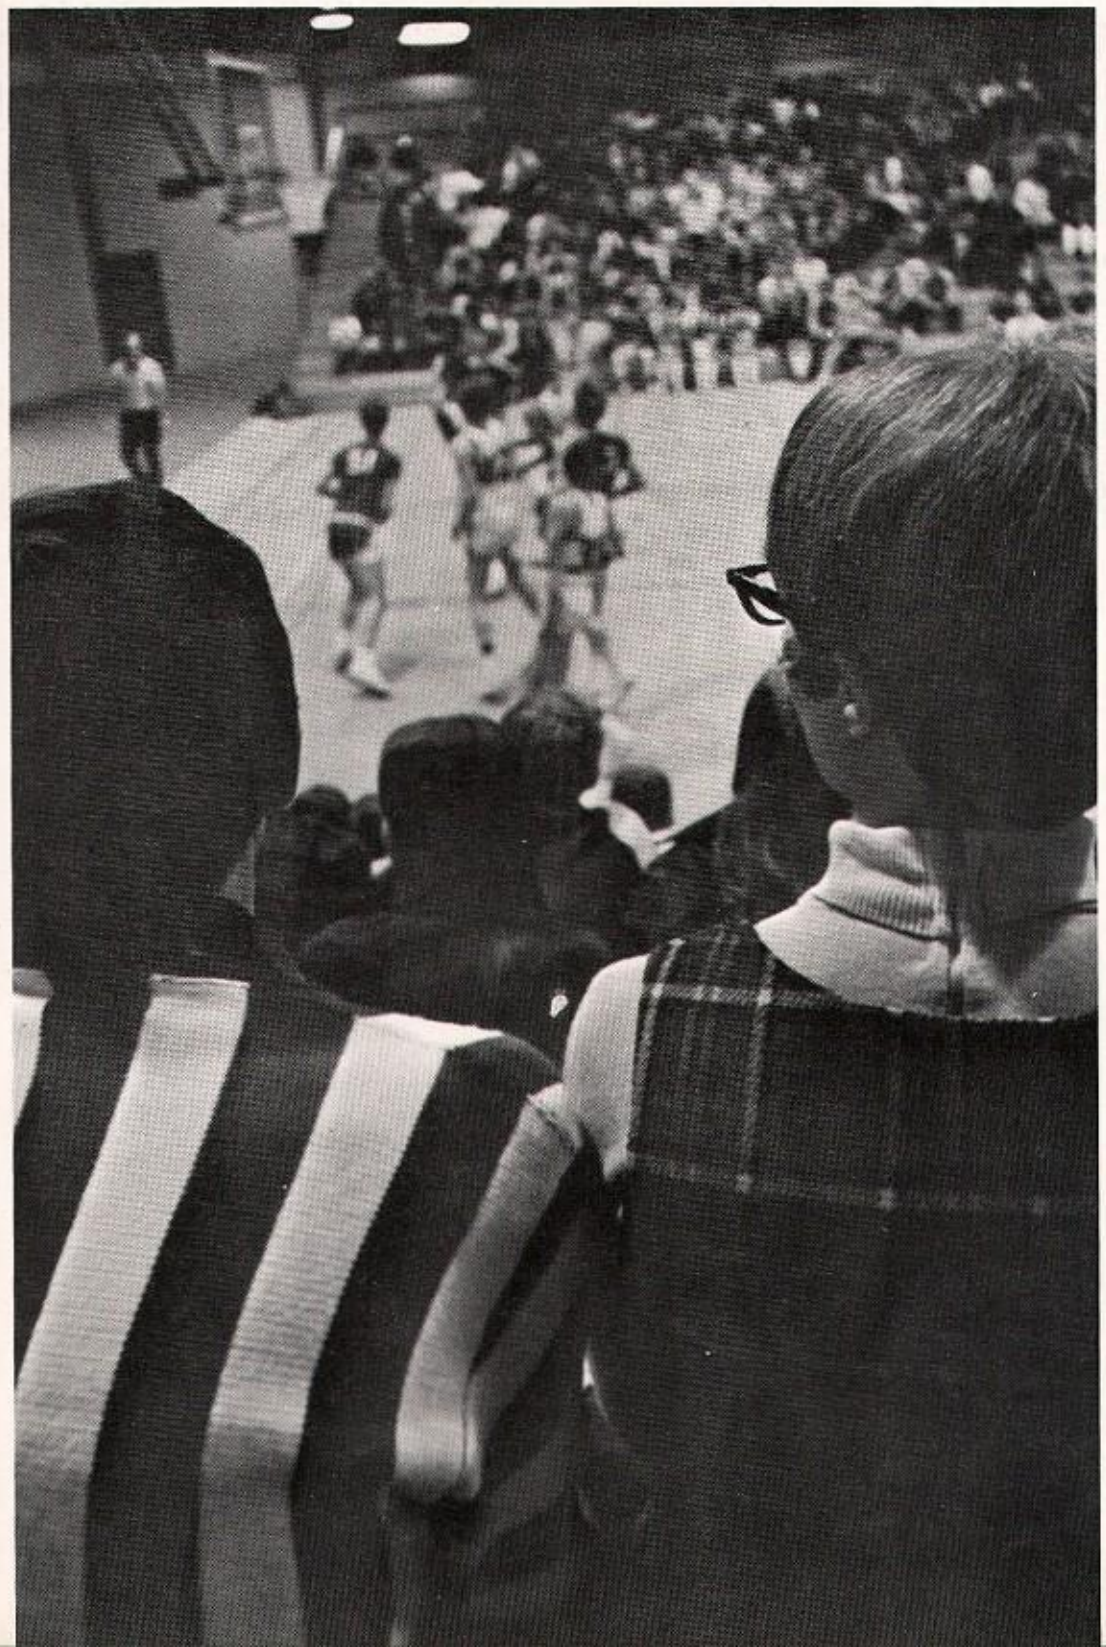
Educational Freedom Given a Trial in

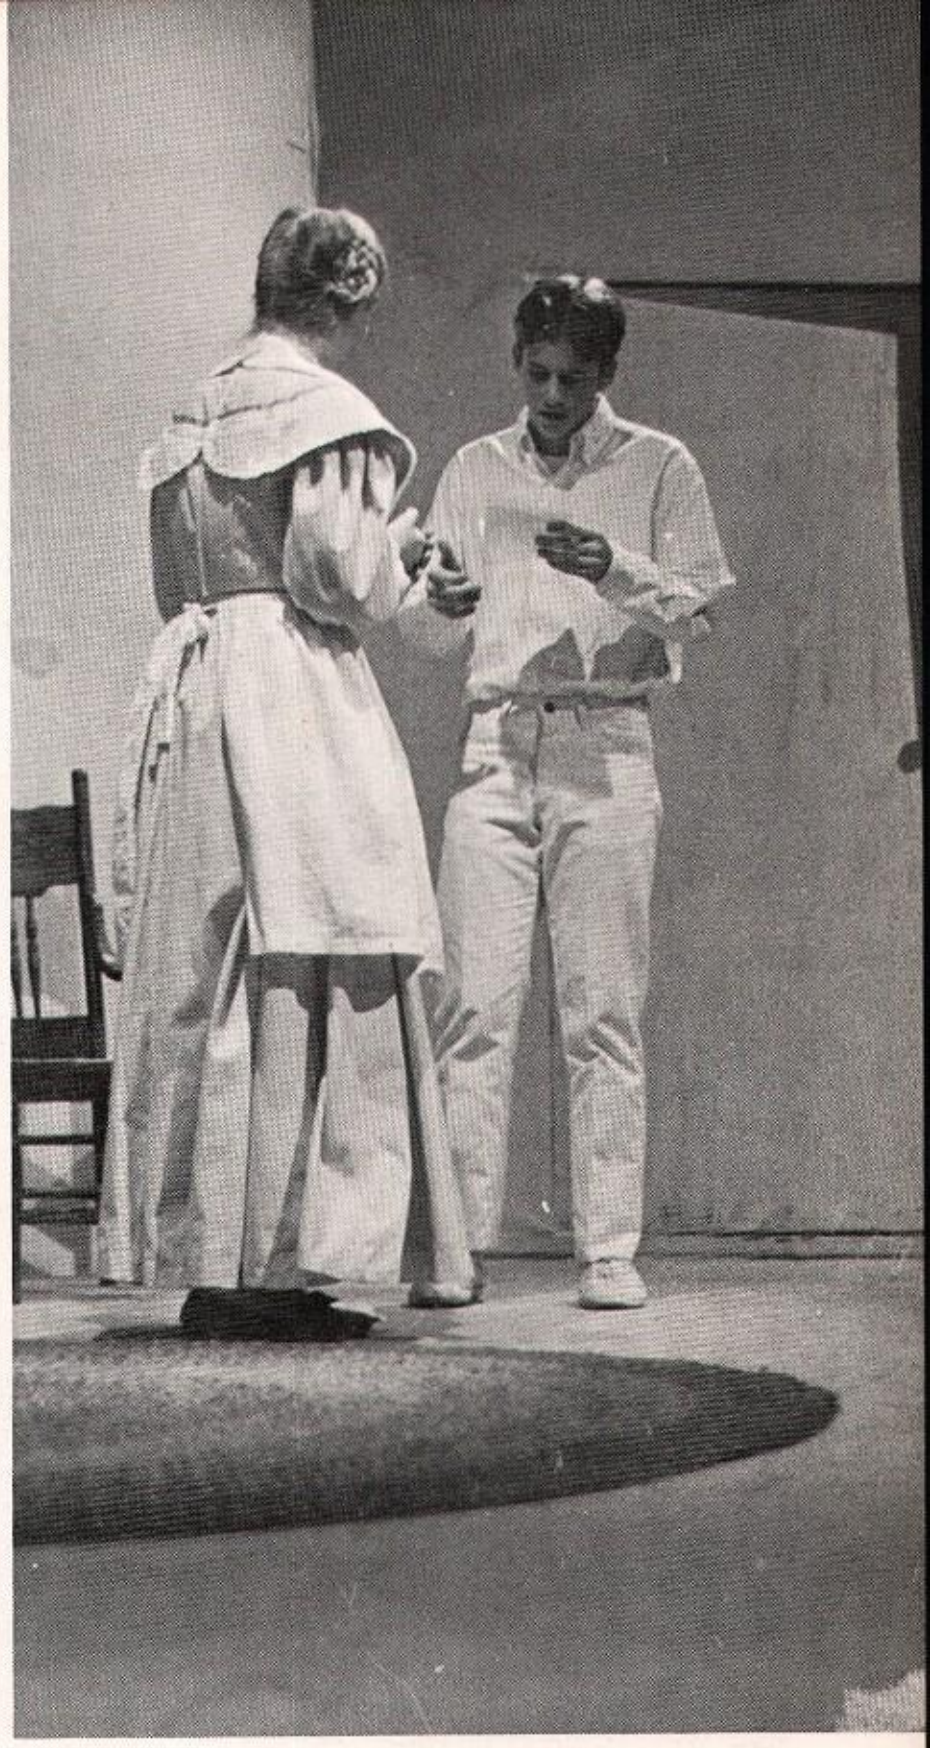


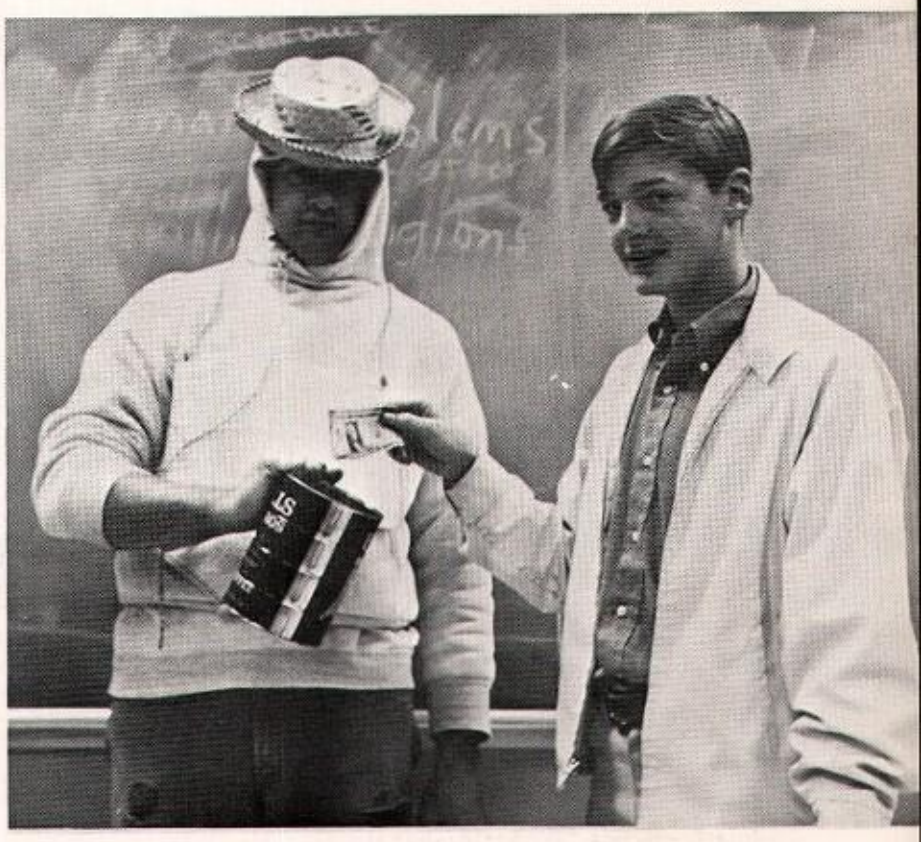
New and innovative ideas in the educational system were attempted and met with varying degrees of success. Freedom in the learning process was experimented with in the form of flexible scheduling, curriculum adjustment, and an "inter-immonth". The concept that a student must be with a teacher to learn was laid aside for the time.

New Programs

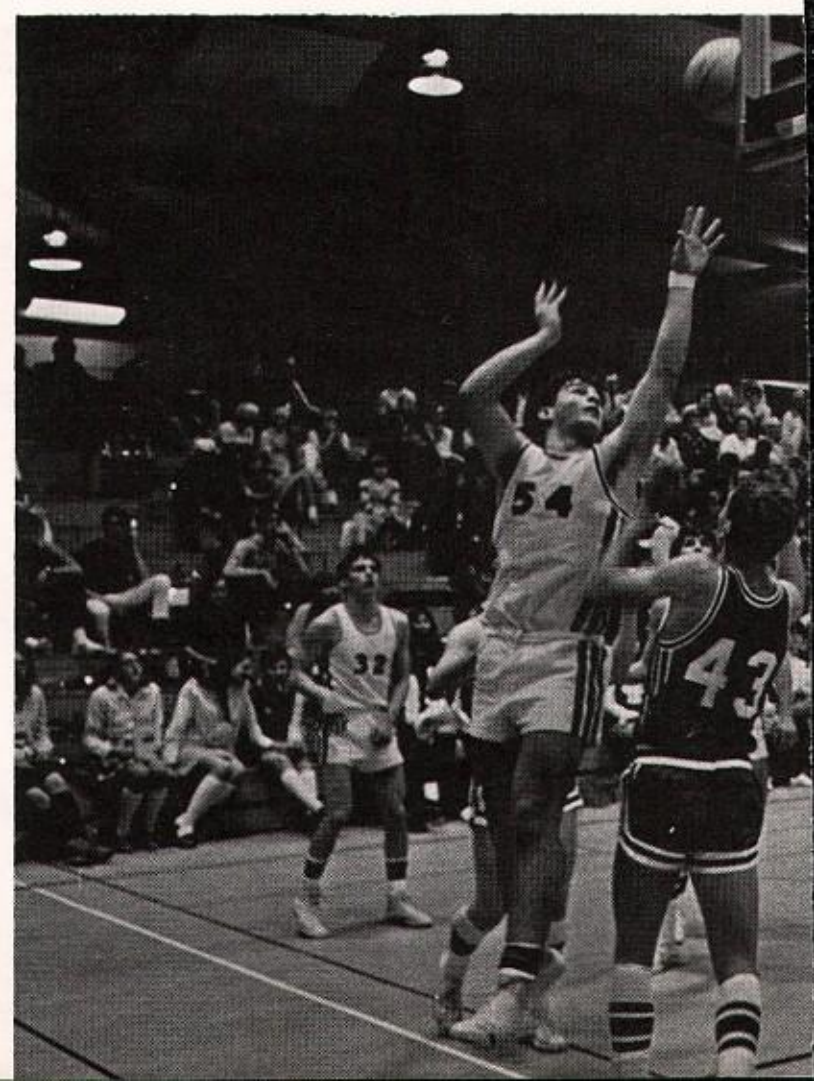
Socially Washington High School grew with the addition of another class. New relationships were formed and a greater understanding among students was gained.







Students Look



From this year of growing Washington High School is moving into what will hopefully be a year of "fulfillment". Next year, with a full complement of students, the school will reach its highest level of excellence in scholastics, athletics, and pride.

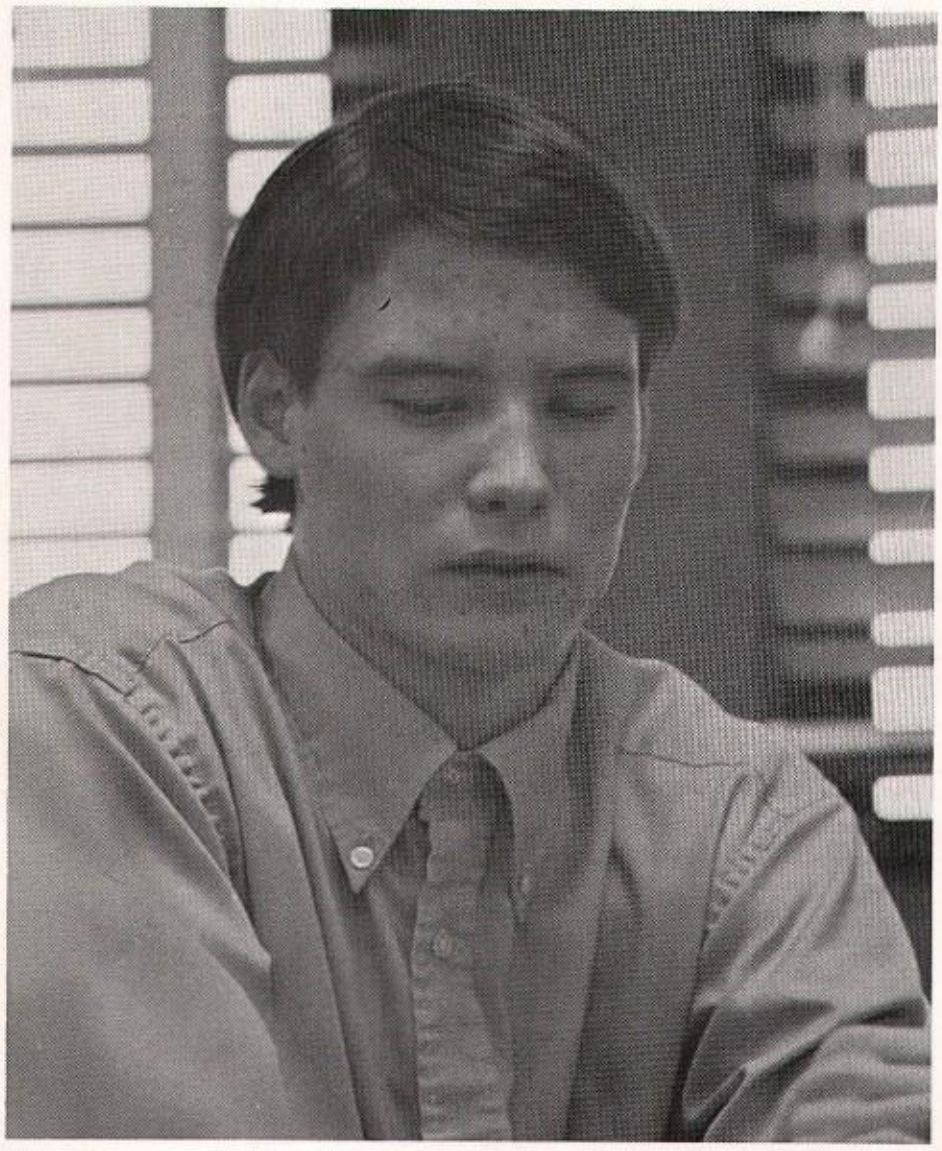
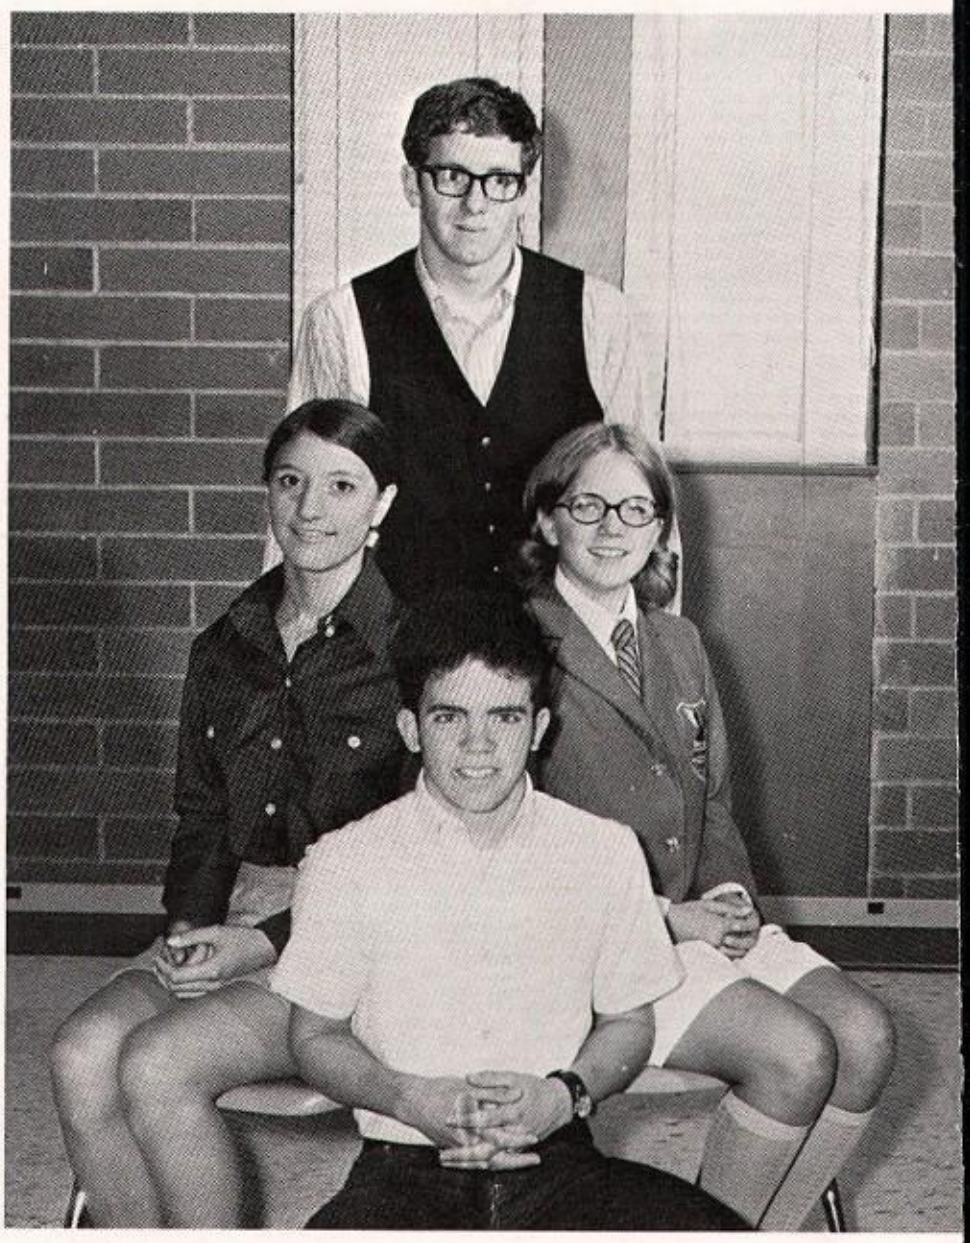
A.S.B. Officers and Student Council Work



Ed Stevens, A.S.B. President, debates the question in his own mind.



Randy Hester VP., Pam Rickert C. of A., Turi Thompson Sec., and Bob Andersen Treas., served as student body officers.

Throughout Year as Student Government

Ed Stevens brings up an interesting factor in the disscussion.

"The meeting will now come to order." The commencing of another meeting. Instantly hands shoot into the air, each owner eager to express the new idea he has been working on, an addition to our traditions, or a correction in the minutes. Programs are proposed --- some winning, some losing, committees are formed, action is taken.

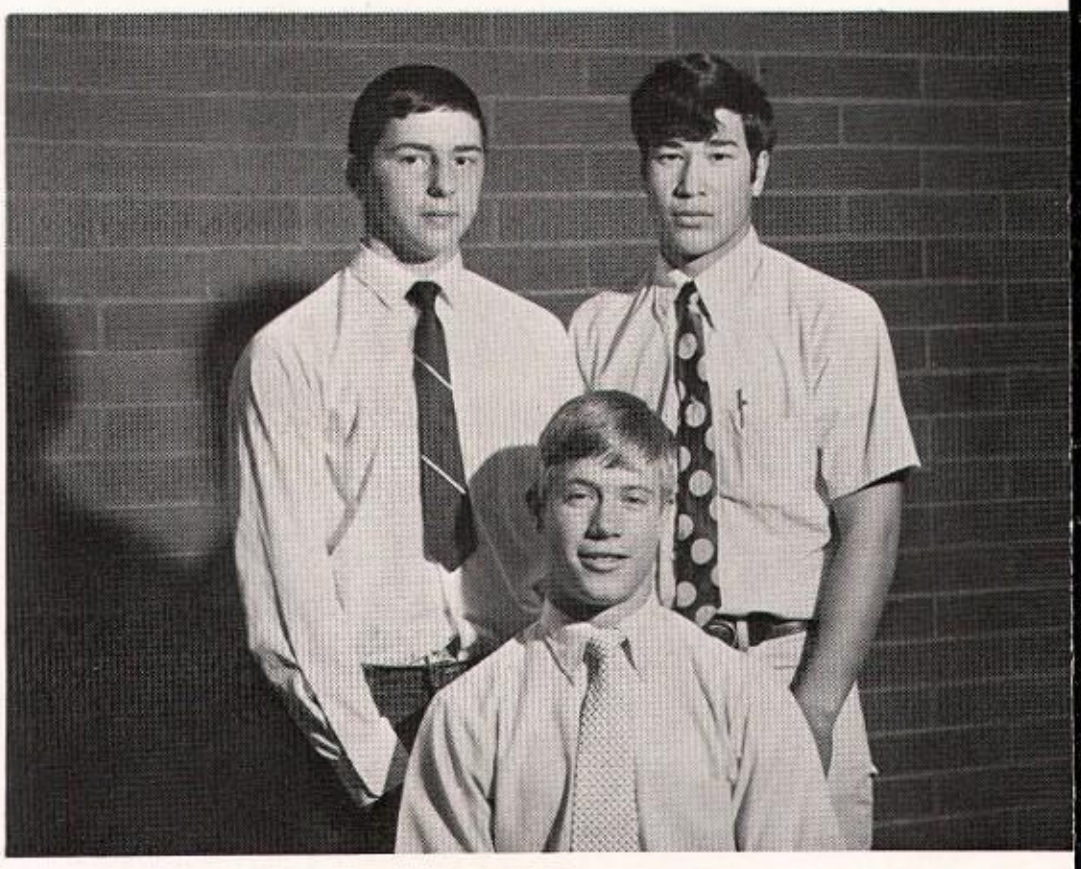
Promoters of ALL Athletics

Wearing the red, white, and blue identifies me as one of the promoters of athletics at Washington. I may be justly proud of having had some part in the success of our athletic program.

Being a member of this Club makes me feel I contributed something to the teams at Washington. A victory for the team is a victory for the school.



President Hans Woldseth, Treasurer Bill Perry, and VP. Tom Harmon were the leaders of the Athletic Club.

Girls' Club is for ALL

102 couples danced the night away at the Girls' Club annual Tolo.

The Girls' Club is for all of us - the ones with brains, the ones with beauty, and the ones with both. High school can easily be cold and impersonal, but we can just as easily make it wonderful for ourselves and those around us. We should want to help each other enjoy this brief stay at W.H.S., not because we are in Girls' Club, but because we are girls.

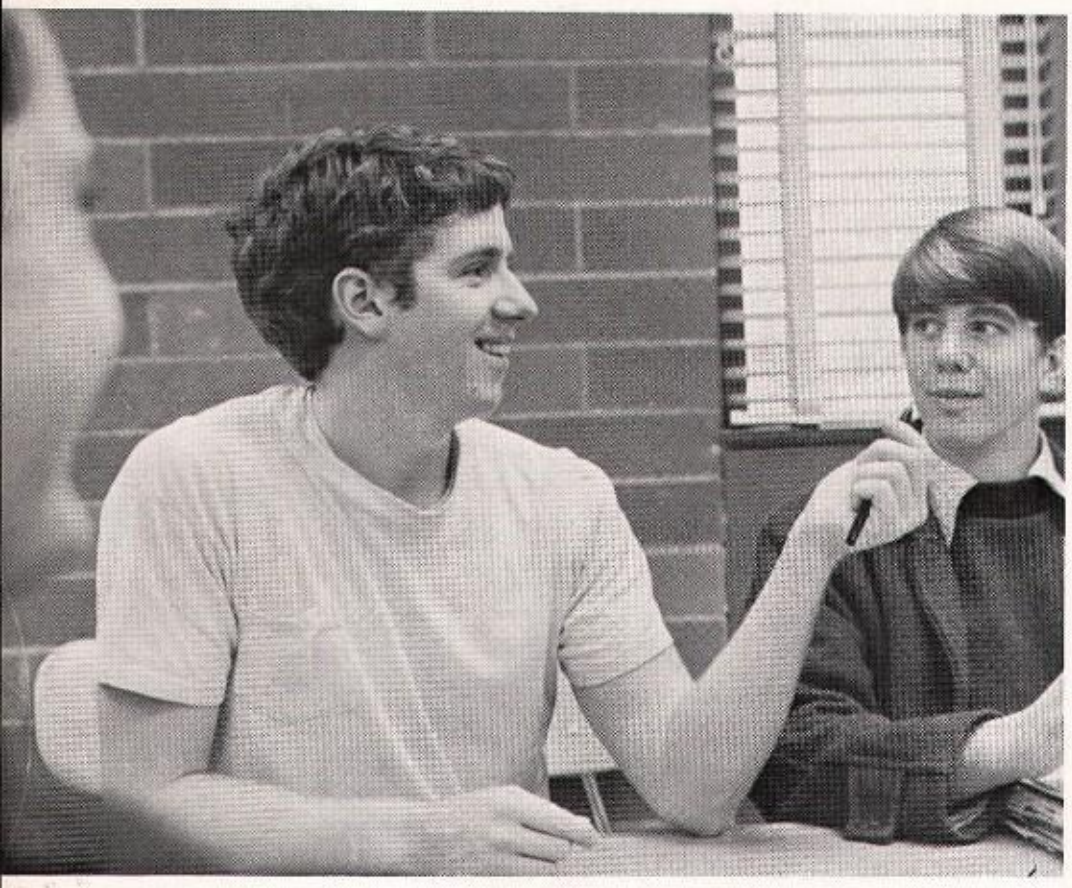
Pep Week Climaxed With Big Intra-

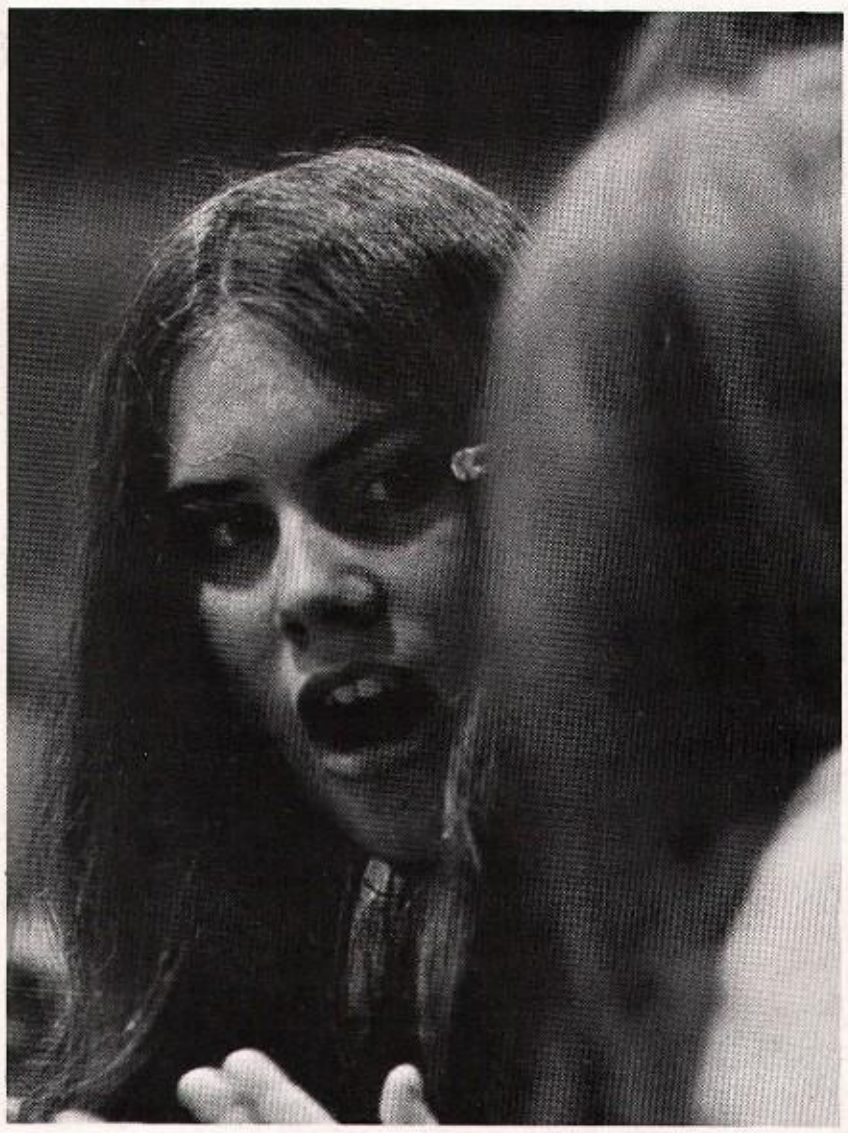


Student Council gets Pep Week rolling with a discussion on the week's activities.

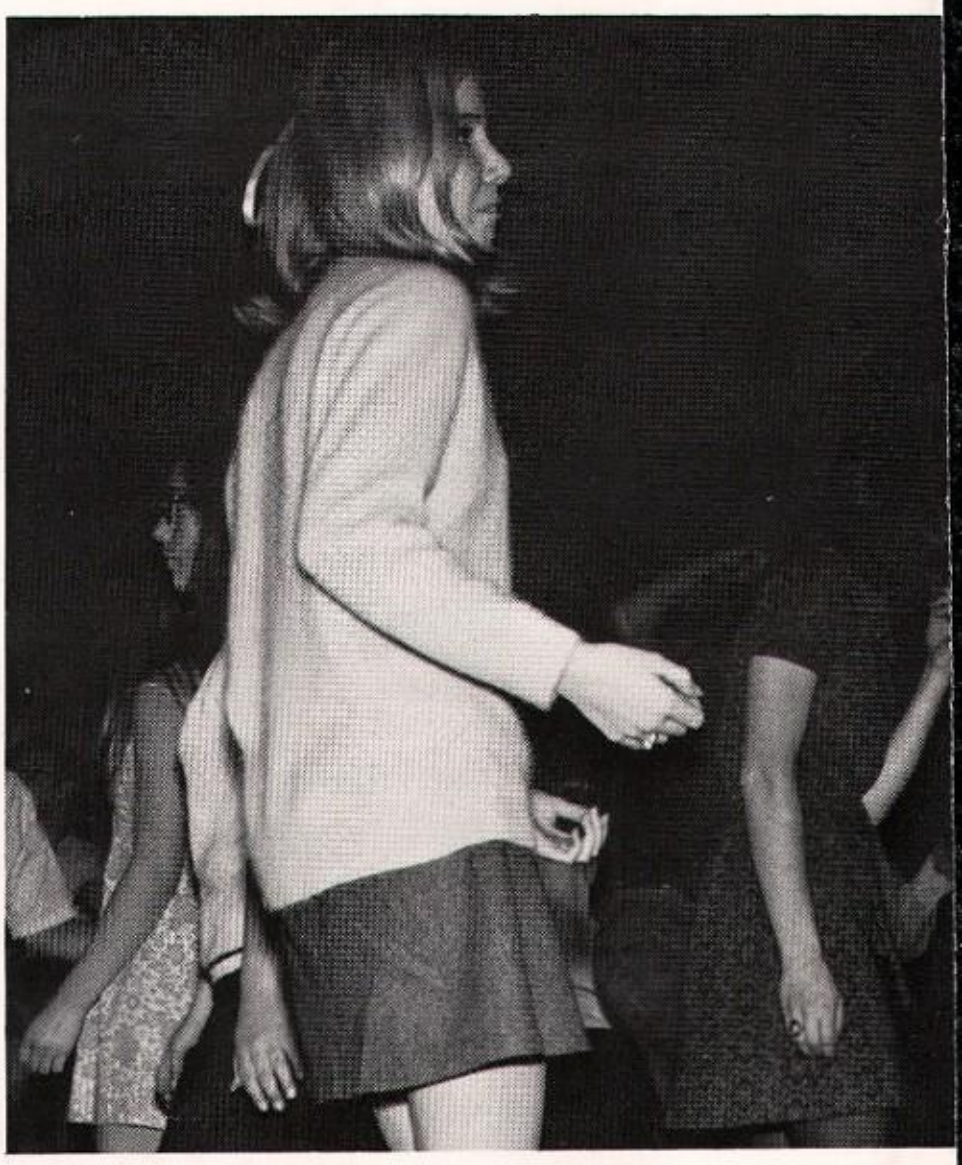
With our first game of the year with Franklin Pierce fast approaching, the student council votes pep week on its way. Three days for building up school spirit climaxed by the game with our intra-district rival.

Students take hold of the enthusiasm and join in the fun as pep week begins with sports day. Everything from duck hunters to mountain climbers roam the campus of WHS. Grub day and school color day bring out the innovative minds of students as every-one trys to outdo the other.

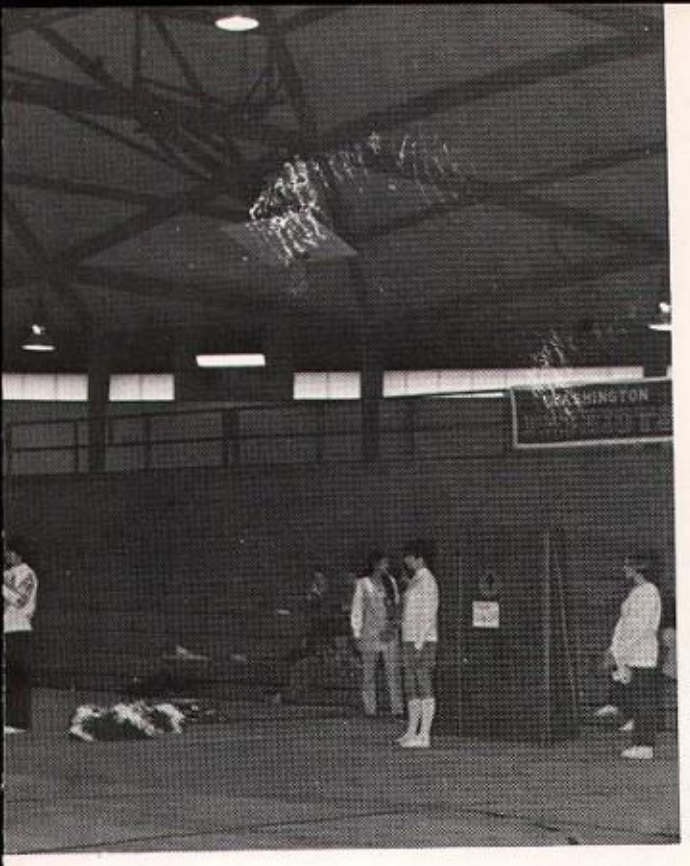
Tense and enthusiastic for an upset Patriot supporters enter the fieldhouse for the big climax of the week, a game with Franklin Pierce.



Excitment swells as the finale to pep week is about to begin.



The after game dance proved that no hostility remained as F.P. an



I have the Spirit Key.

No, I have the Spirit Key.

No, your both wrong! We, the students, have the Spirit Key.

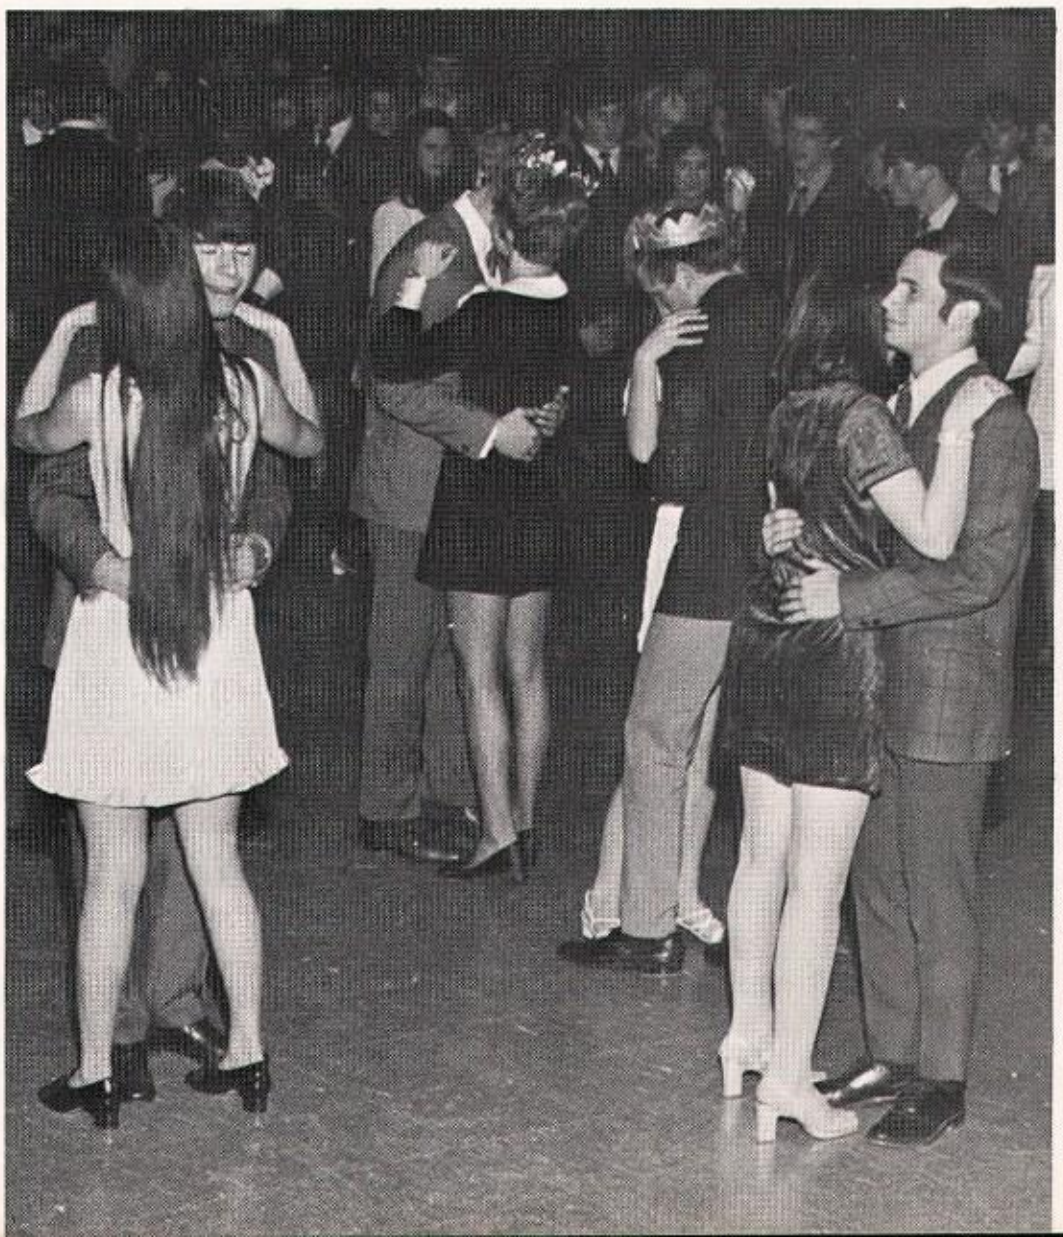
102 Couples Go "Flying" at Girls'

"FLYING"

We had a very good seat at the Tolo. It was way in the back where we could keep our eyes on the food committee (food is very important to the success of a dance), as well as carry on a shouting conversation. We soon gave this up, however, and became a part of the wild group of twitching and turning men and women.



Karen Christopherson presents Marcia Dahl the newly crowned Princess with a bouquet of roses.

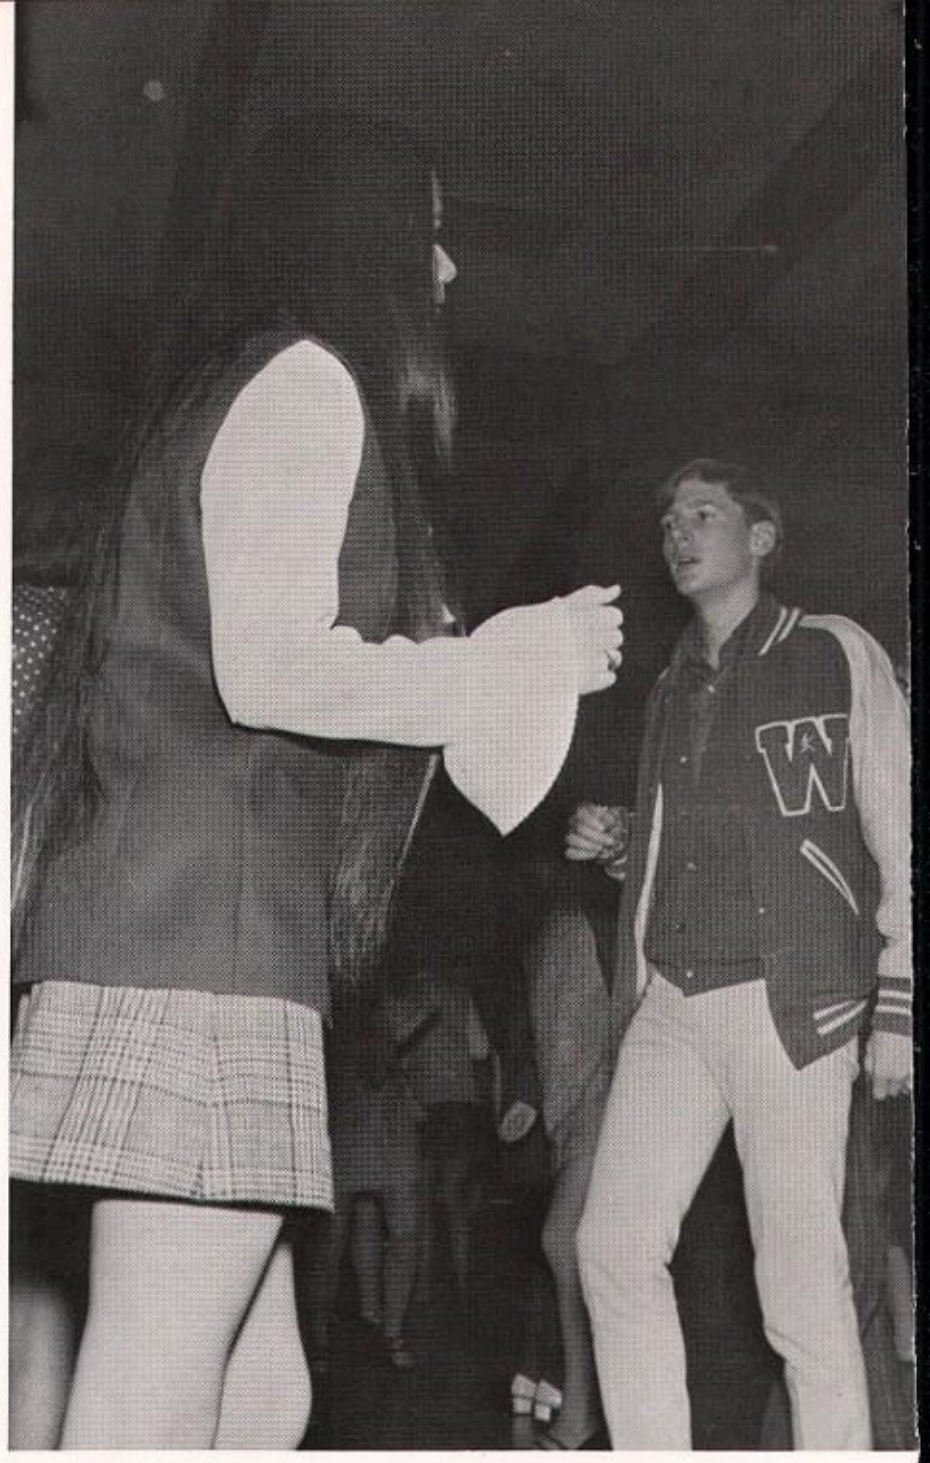
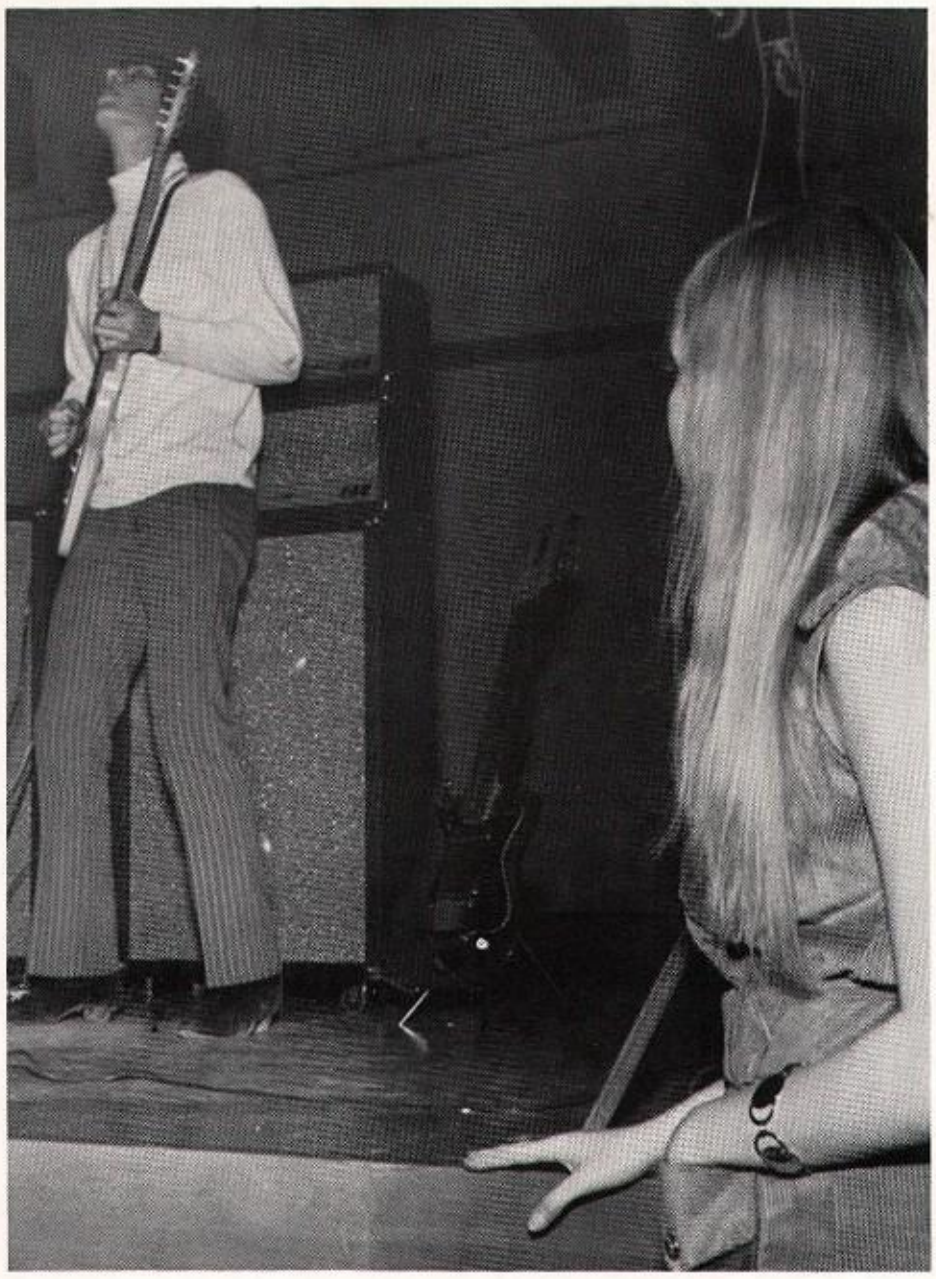
Dance to the "Music"

Dance to the music! That's what its all about. After many a hard fought game students and players released their inner tensions by dancing the night away. That is, provided of course, that you went to the after game dances. The lingering sound of a good song still rings in your ear as the tone of the time strikes 11:30 and all after game dances are promptly ended.



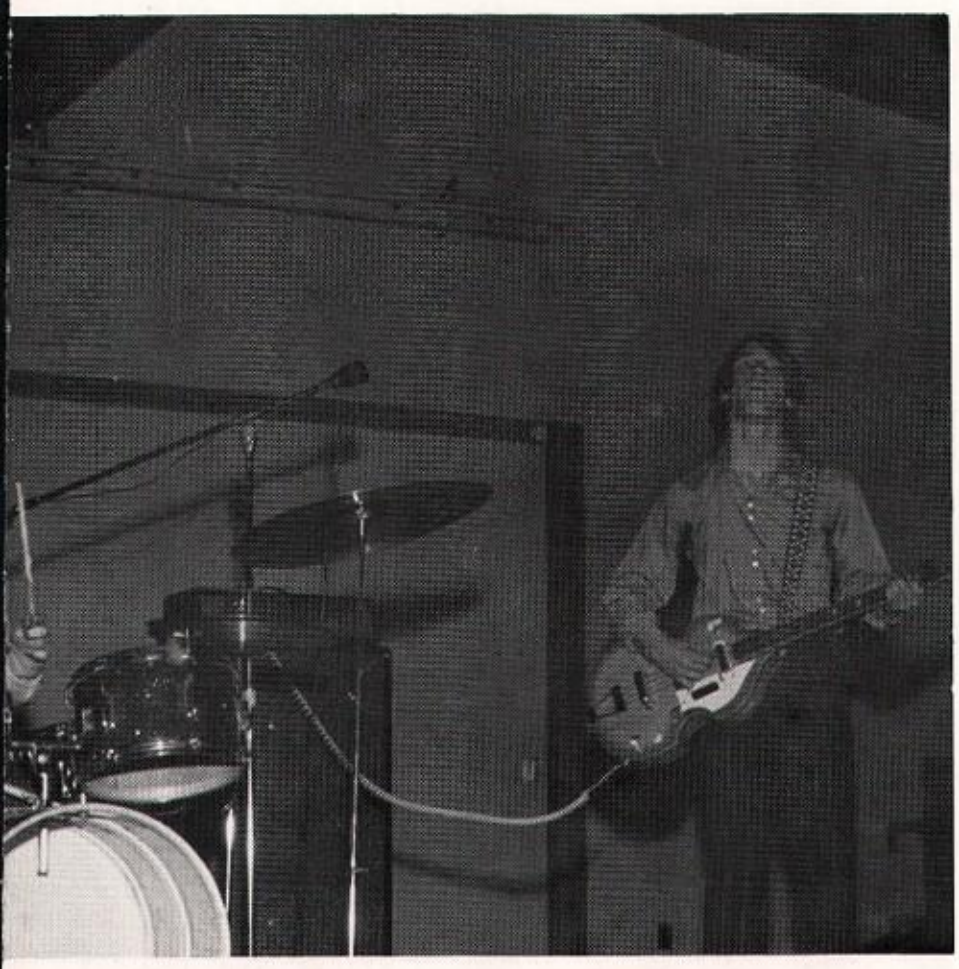


After-Game Dances Lure Many WHS Students

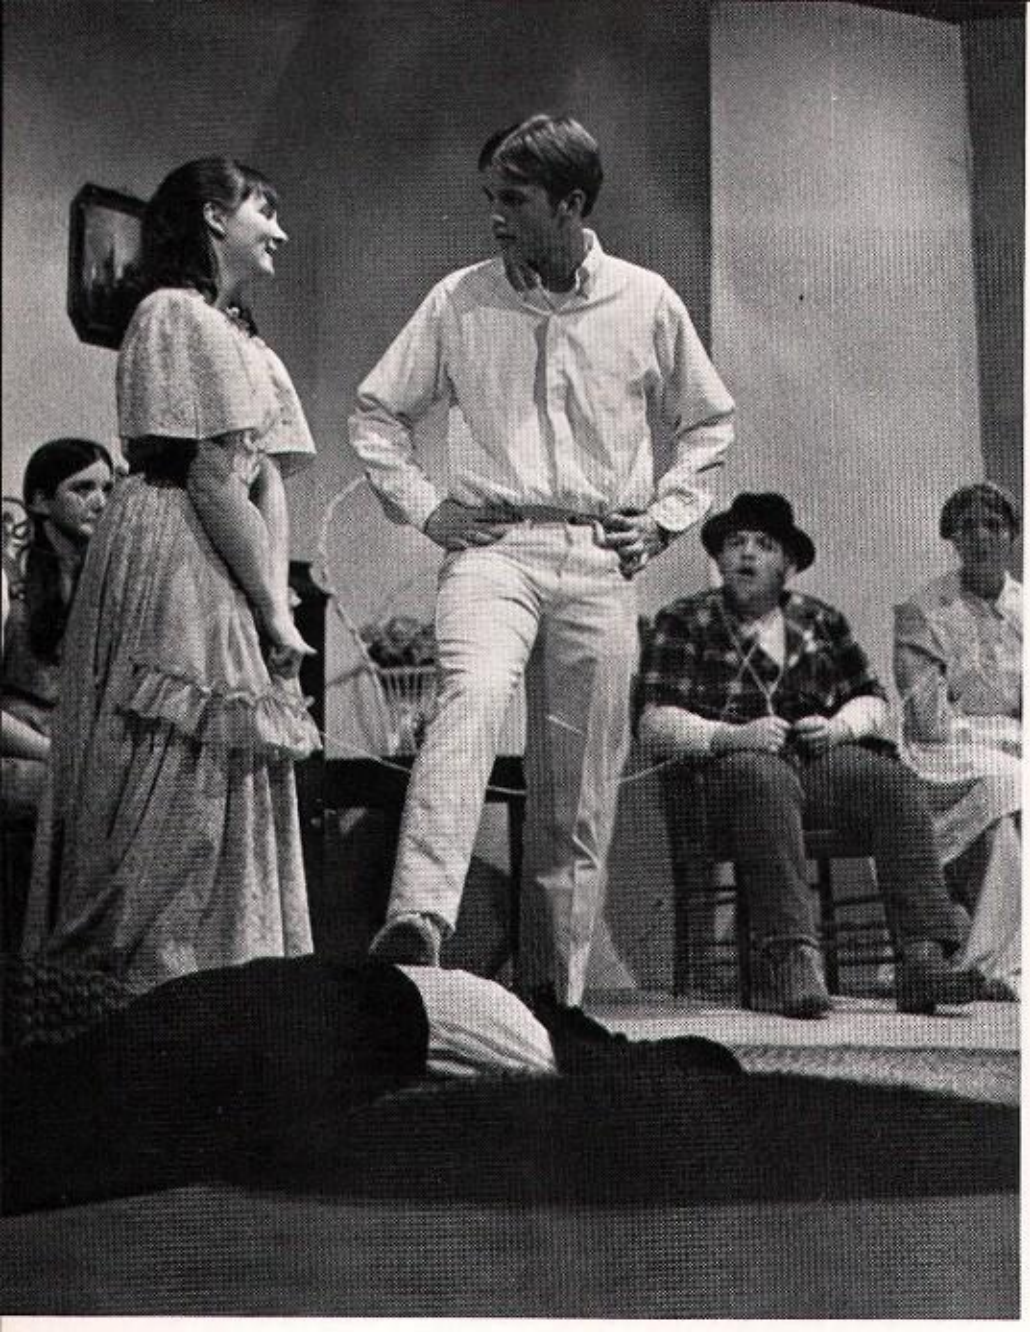
Who's playing tonight? I'm not sure, lets go find out. Many after game dances probably started with a conversation much like that one.

I can remember walking up to the stage just to get a good look at them. All dances start with that swelling crowd around the stage. Ozboz Lokr and The Hitch Hikers were just two of the bands that filled the student center with those glorious sounds on any given Friday night.

Bands not only play music, they enjoy listening to it at the same time.



Talented Thespians



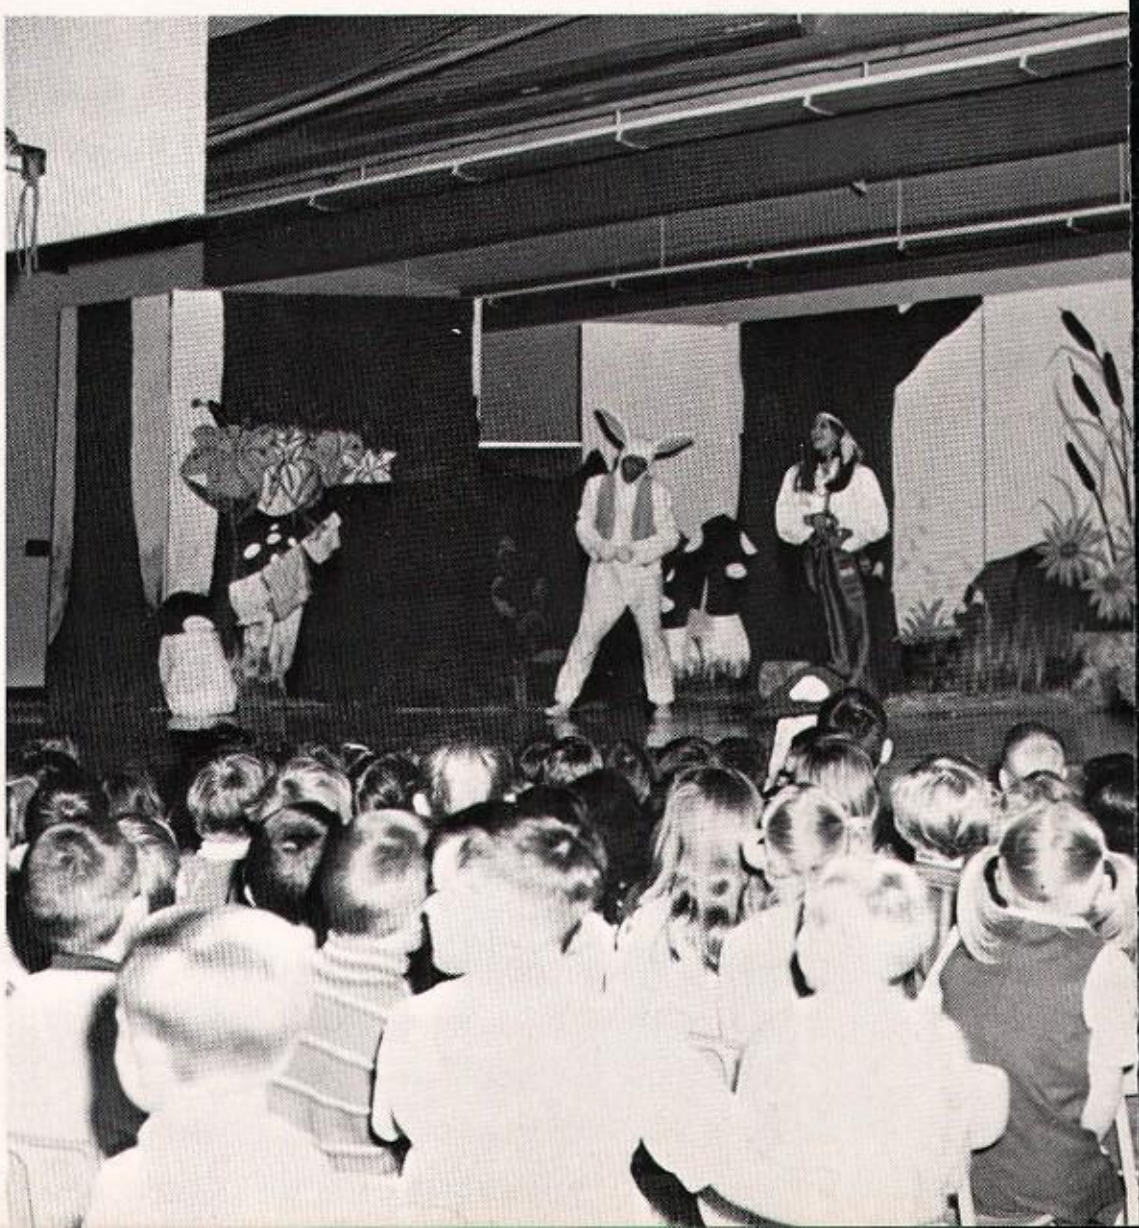
Dave Pederson has triumphed over the villain in THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER.

Mike Brown and Suzanne Kiesow in the one act play, THE LEADER.

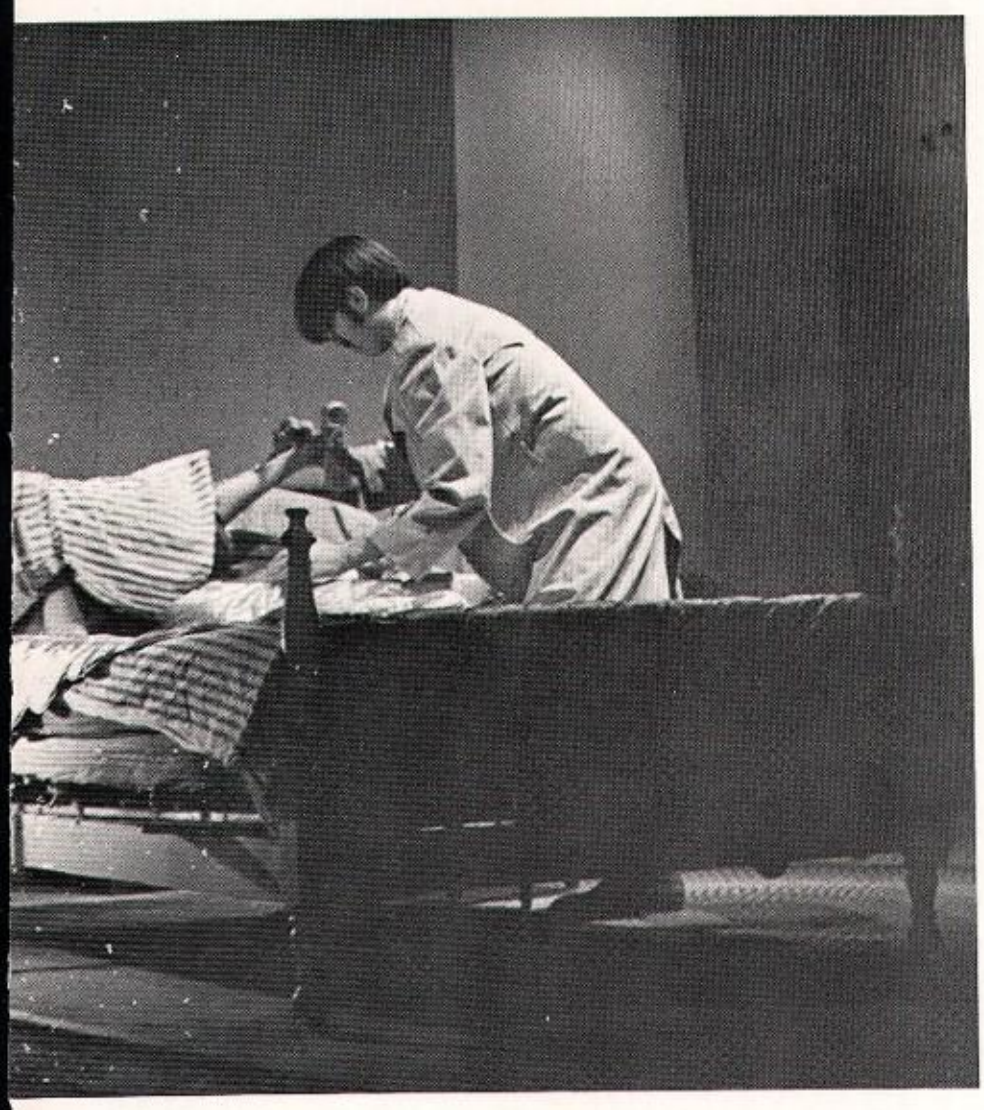
THE FARMER'S DAUGHTER, SORRY WRONG NUMBER, THE LEADER, and THE RABBIT WITH RED WINGS plus a spring play were the extent of productions the Drama Club produced during the year. Student directors along with Mr. Reeve, advisor, brought many talented student actors and actresses to the W.H.S. stage.

Grade schools in the area were specially treated by the interim month class when they performed in THE RABBIT WITH RED WINGS.

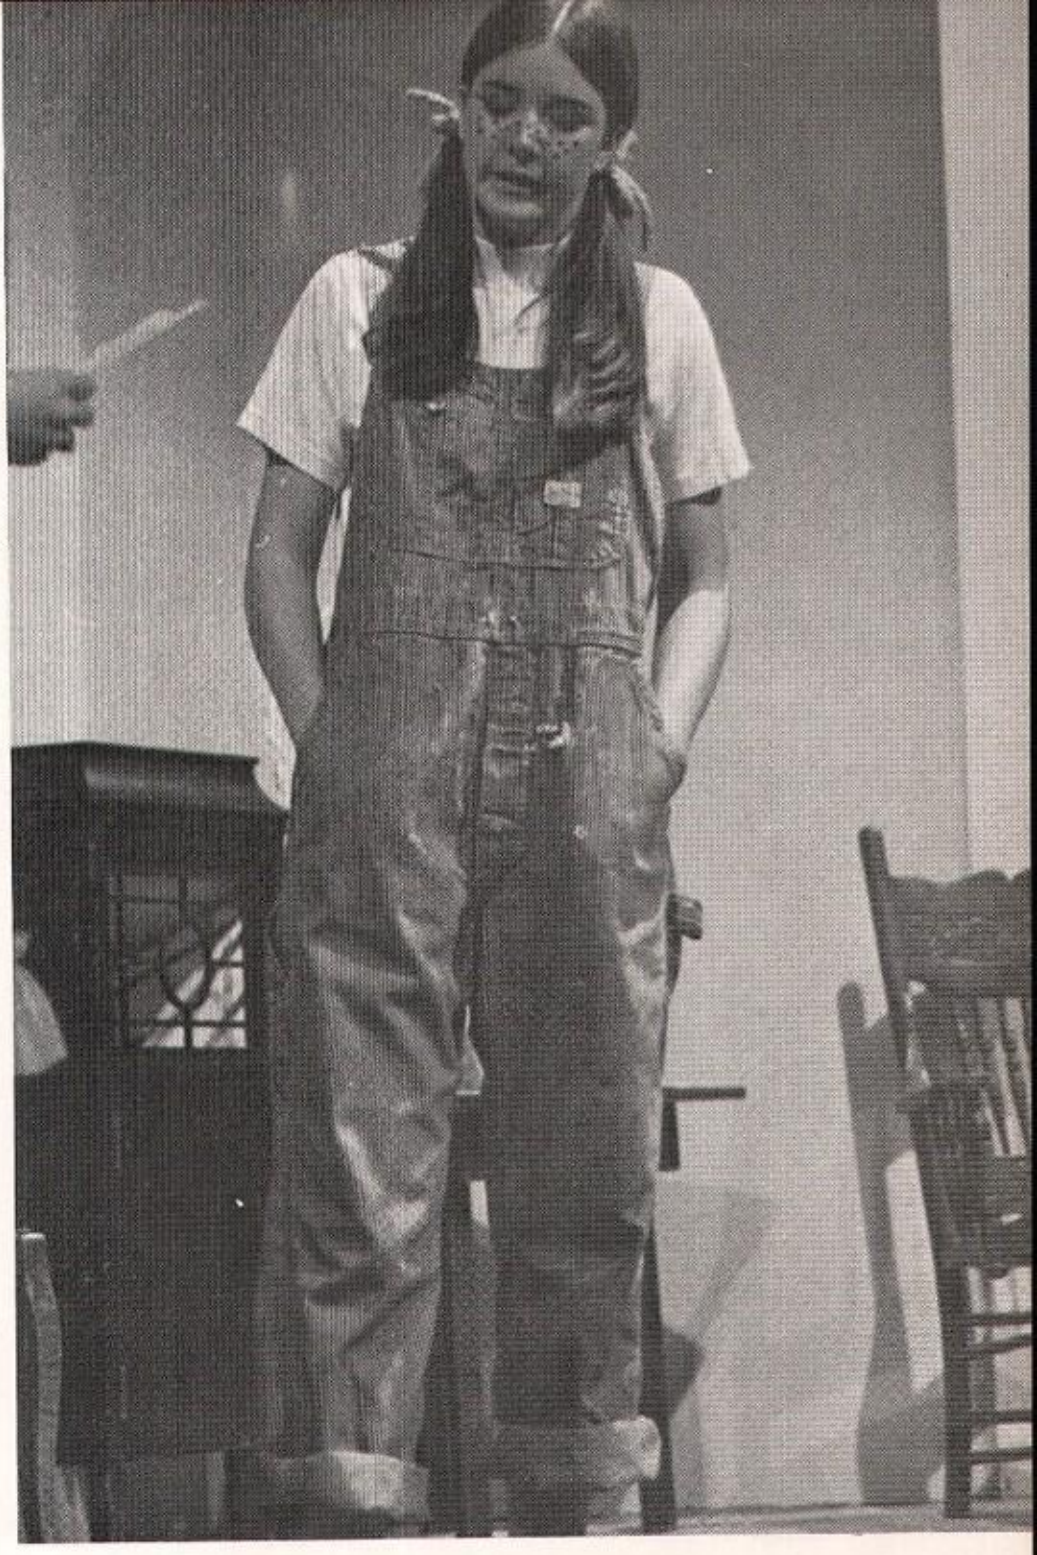
Grade school children enjoy watching The Rabbit With Red Wings.



Produced Many Plays



Ron Hackler plays the murderer in SORRY WRONG NUMBER.



Kathy Carver with freckles and all in THE FARMERS DAUGHTER.

Nina Guest plays an old sickly woman, who gets connected with a wrong number and hears the detailed plan of her own murder, in the one act SORRY WRONG NUMBER.

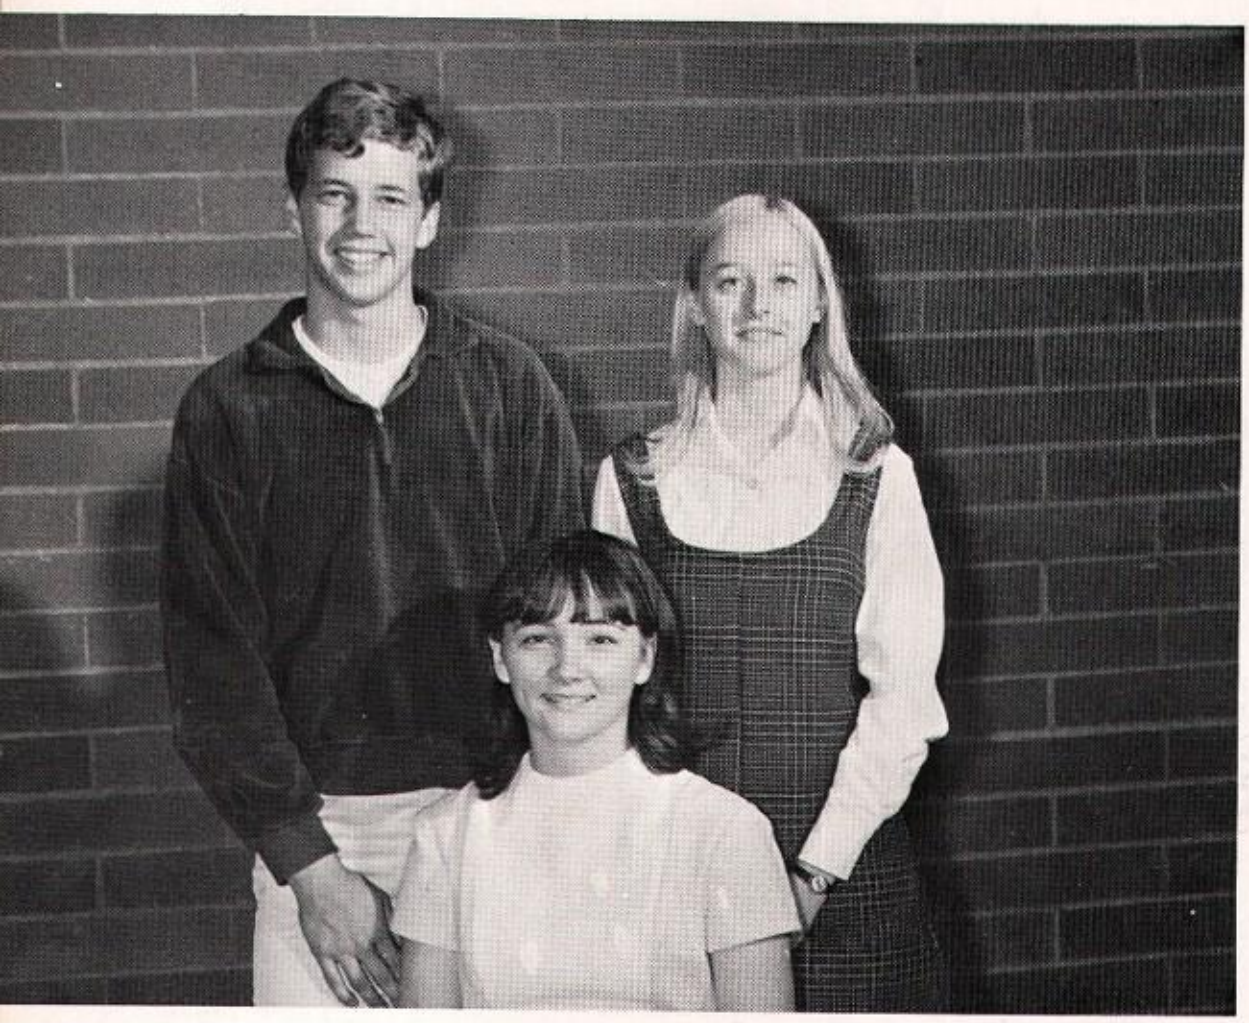
Drama Club Produces 5 Plays



Linda Taylor (sitting), president, Dave Pederson, secretary and Barb Bratlie, treasurer led the Drama Club as officers. (R. Thompson, V.P. not pictured)

This talented troupe of actors, otherwise known as the Drama Club, performed three successful one-act plays in the fall, a children's theater play in the interim month, and a three-act in the spring. "This is undoubtably the most interesting and enjoyable group of people in W.H.S. for it has the most participants of any extra-curricular organization in the school," Mr. Ken Reeve, adviser, commented.

Chess Club's Main Strategy Is Win!

His eyes pierced through me. He knew not to trust. He'd been betrayed before! Finally he made his move with a temporary grin. I answered with a "check".

Strategy plays a major part in the game of chess and most club members are good at plotting a winning strategy.

President Dan Buchanan and secretary Kathy Motteler make a fine King and Queen of chess.

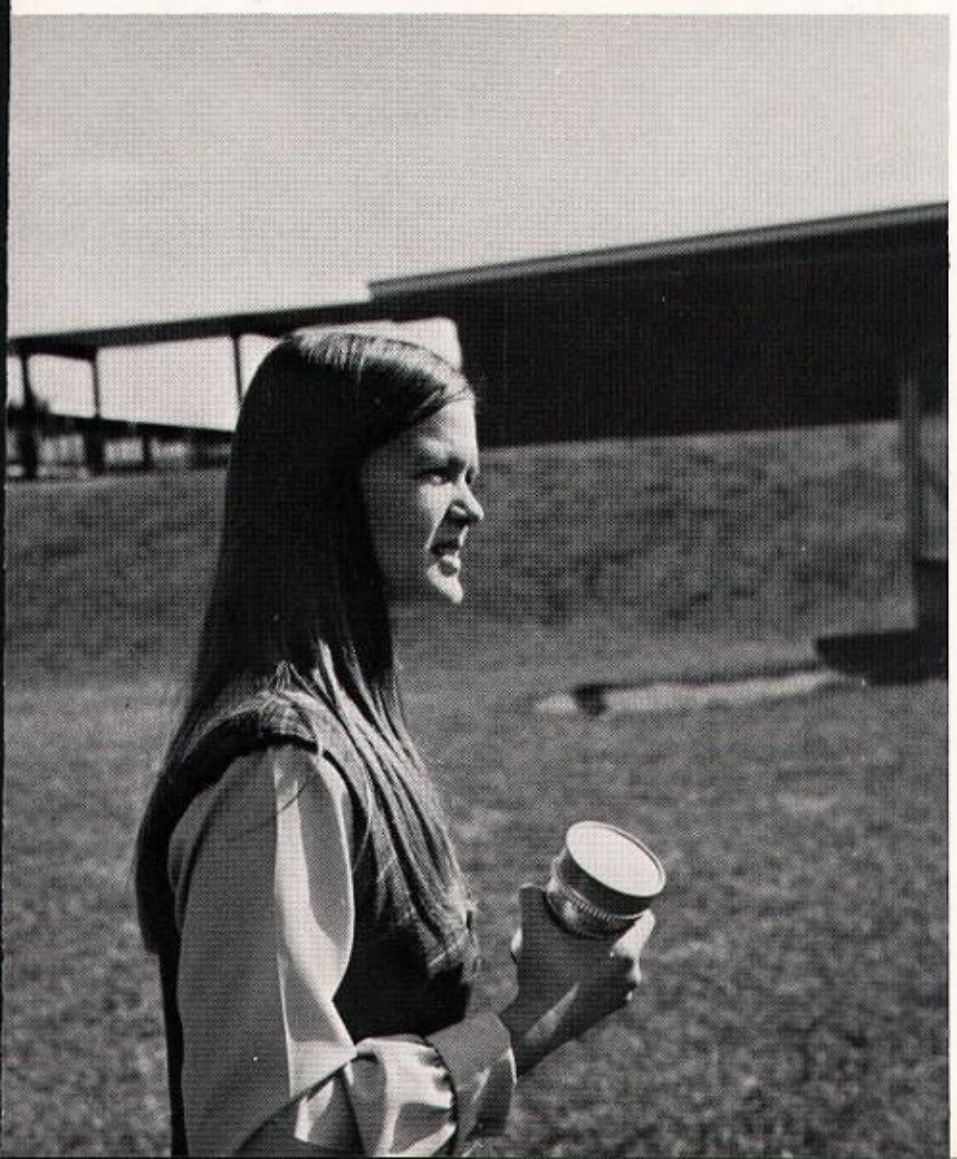
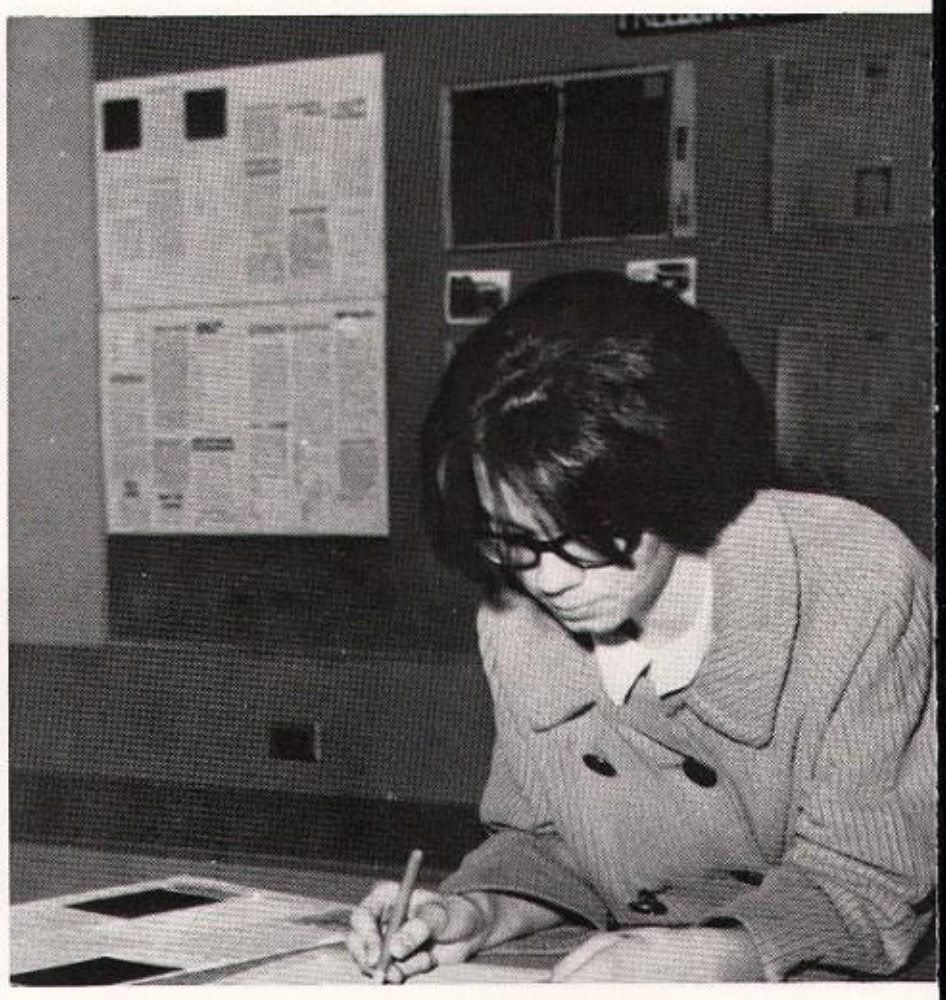
Marlys Bertsch, editor of The Spirit of '70, is assisting the Harta Studio photographer.



The purpose of the Washington Freedom Press is to publish what is written by you, the student body, as well as the journalism students themselves. This paper attempts to act as a sounding board for your ideas, criticisms, and grievances. Likewise The Spirit of '70 wishes to give a true picture of life at our school throughout the year as seen through the eyes of the student body.

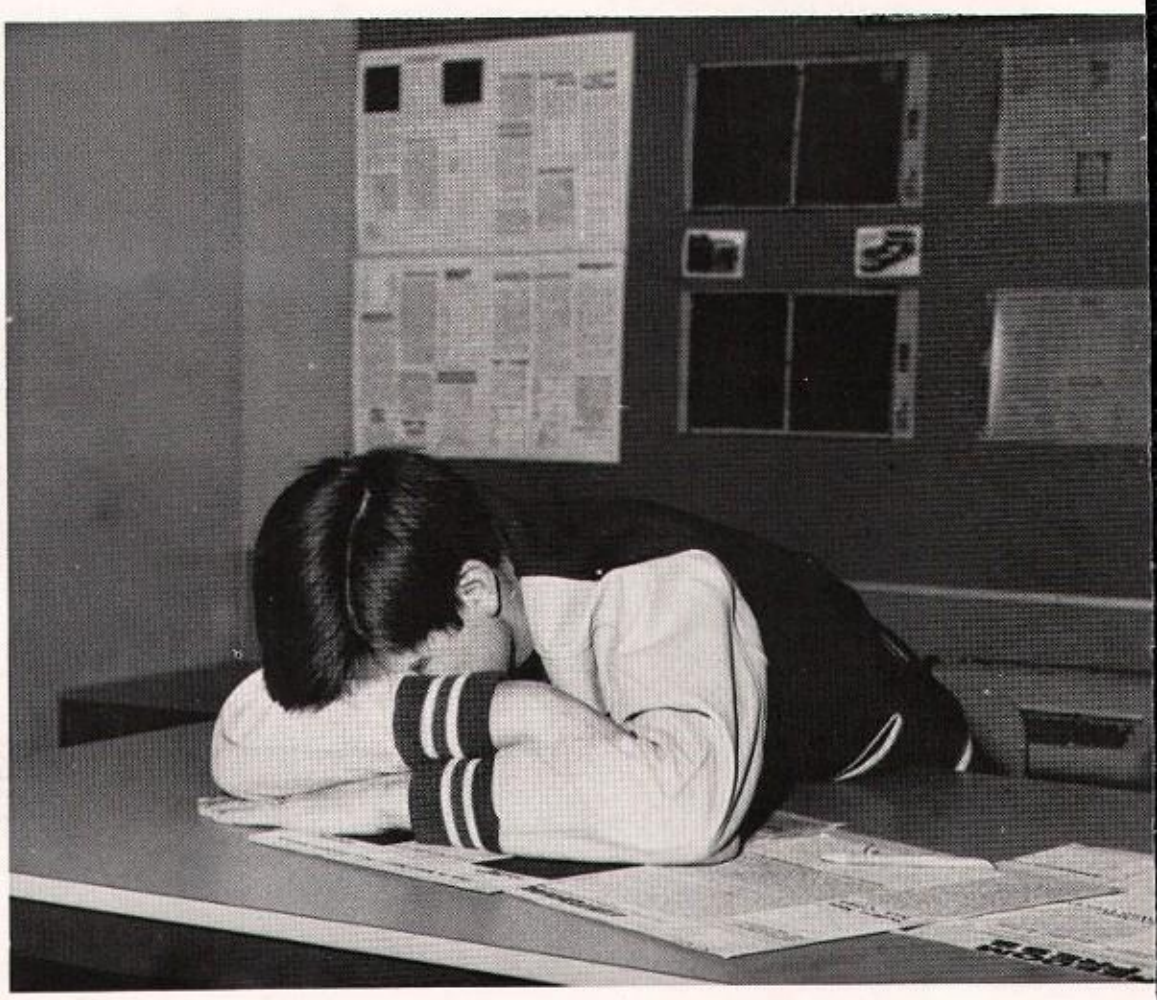
Publications Take Time and Work

Chris Satterlee works on proofreading the annual before the next deadline.



Journalism students learn to proofread all work before it is sent to the printer.

The only thing we hope to accomplish is to remind you of what's going on. The publications at WHS are in two categories: the newspaper which is the now for only now and the annual which is the now for the future. Both do their job and hope they do it well, so we hope you enjoy the time and effort that was put into these publications.



Jeff Hill, editor of The Freedom Press, relaxes after the works all done.

A New and Challenging Concept at Washington is Forensics

Forensics was a whole new concept to students at Washington—everything from debate to interpretive reading. It has something that everyone can enjoy. This year we had a debate team that opposed other schools in the SPSL. For their first attempt they fared very well. Speech tournaments were held and Roxie Thomsen brought the first trophy to Washington in any field. (A new standard to set ourselves in.) We lead the rest in one field and should be proud of our forensic squad.

Mrs. Watson is the Spanish teacher and an advisor to the Foreign Language Club.

The newly formed Language Club hopes to bring a foreign exchange student to WHS sometime in the near future. The club consists of students speaking all three languages that are taught at WHS, Spanish, German, and French. A joint program to learn and enjoy the benefits foreign countries have to offer, was the aim.

Mrs. Mohn is the French teacher and is an advisor to the Foreign Language Club.

Cheerleading; This is insane! Doesn't anyone care for the players out on the field? Don't we care enough to boost the team's spirit, even when loss is inevitable?

I have felt this way many times as I observed the "rooting section," doing nothing but carrying on private conversations. It is not enough to merely "be" at the games, we must show our pride out loud, win or lose.

Patriots Respectable

The 1969 season was one of hard work, tough opposition, elated satisfaction, and bitter disappointment for the well-deserving football team.

The year began on a somber and prophetic note as the Patriots broke into the strong SPSL with a heartbreaking 7-0 loss to Lakes.

Throughout the season the team from WHS played exceptional ball but lack of experience caused many Patriot mistakes and a general failure to capitalize offensively on "breaks" in the game.

Strong defense was evident throughout the year as Washington held six of eight tough SPSL teams to one touchdown or less.

Highlighting the 1969 season were the two wins--27-0 over the hapless Rogers Rams, and 14-6 against an inspired Federal Way team. The season record, 2-6, was respectable, if not noteworthy, since it was in a league where it is tough for a junior to even get a starting berth.

After this year of building the gridders of Washington High School are looking forward to an SPSL crown in the 1970 season.

CROSS COUNTRY

Do you know of someone who strips down to less than 6 oz. of clothes in 40 degree weather and then totally exhausts himself just to get a small card with a single or double digit number inscribed on it?

I do not believe there are very many, for it takes a special kind of breed, although coming in various shapes and sizes. After school time and on weekends, over two dozen of us may be found jogging, preparing for our sparsely populated meets. Even though many think of us as fools to do such a tiring feat, our practice has paid off. The varsity finished with a 3-5 record and the junior varisty, a 6-2 record.

After Strong Start Golfers Finish 7th

The sphere sailed listlessly through the heavens, and now descends upon the soft green grass.
It rolls and bounces,
then stops—still as death.

From a distance I jump with excitement
Now, gathering up my emotions,
Now procedding.—
Time passes, the small, white sphere waiting—watching.

My counter-part approaches, steadily he creeps, observing calculating, plotting.
The textured ball sitting nervously, waiting for the time to come

The weapon, a blunt instrument, sitting beside it. Moving back,
and now s-l-o-w-l-y surged,
and s.t.r.u.c.k. the ball.

Aimlessly rolling, the sphere feared doom,
I could sense it.
Suddenly, another jolt, and "PLOP,"
into the hole;
another win for W.H.S.

we are proud

Ron McLaren Sophomore golfer added new strength to the golf team.

The Washington High School golf team swept their opening match against Rogers and Puyallup to become the first team in WHS history to lead a varsity SPSL standing. Later in the season they slipped off this high plateau to finish with a 5-11 record and a 7th place in the SPSL.

Lettermen returning next year in a Patriot bid for a championship are Steve Olson, Davis Peterson, Ron McLaren, Dan Buchanan, and Jim Triggs.

WHS Cagers Finish Well in First Year of Varsity SPSL

Through trial, error, and great odds the WHS basketball team has proven it's potential. The SPSL is just learning what a Washington Patriot can do, especially when under pressure as our team has been throughout the year. Our past is behind us, our mistakes a guide to learn by, ahead lie games we shall fight in with only our best efforts.

Next year will be the year of the Patriots; an experienced, dedicated, and outstanding team. We have only the future to look forward to, we have the man-power, we have the knowledge, and we have the ability. A team of the future with unending loyalty and spirit.

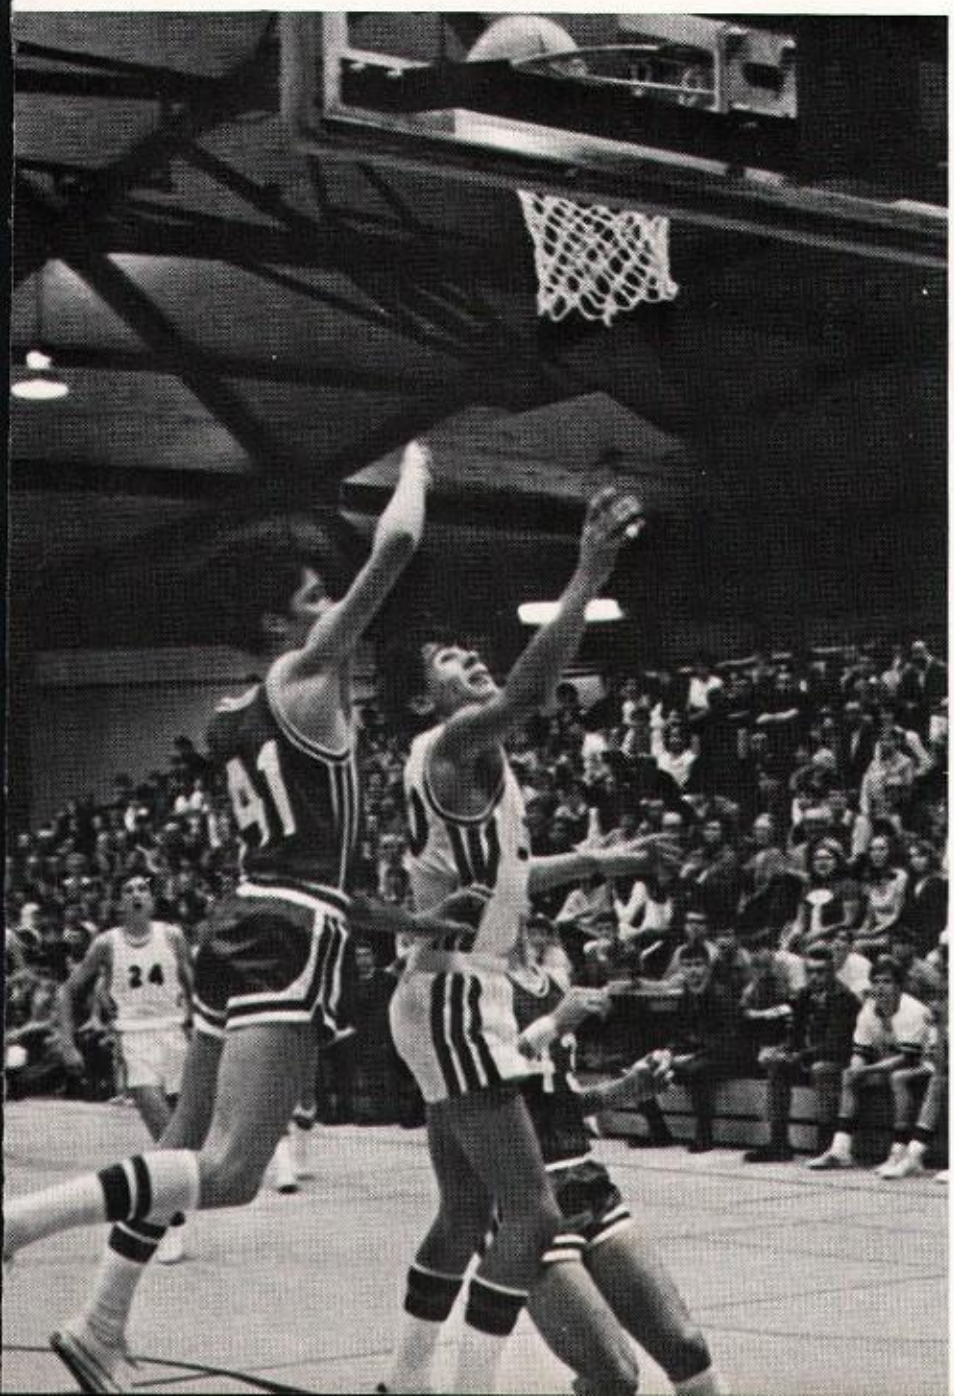
J.V. and Sophomore Cagers Look Forward to 1970 Season

J.V. and sophomore teams took their share of loses, but much experience was gained. Both teams lost probable starters to the varsity team before the season had even gotten under way. Next year, with a full complement of players, the sophomore and j.v. teams will be challenging the varsity starters for a spot on the squad. Coaches Ross and Hansen will look at a full sized team for the first time in WHS history.



Cagers Prove to Be Tough in SPSL

Scott Soine cautiously dribbles towards the basket during pre-game practice.

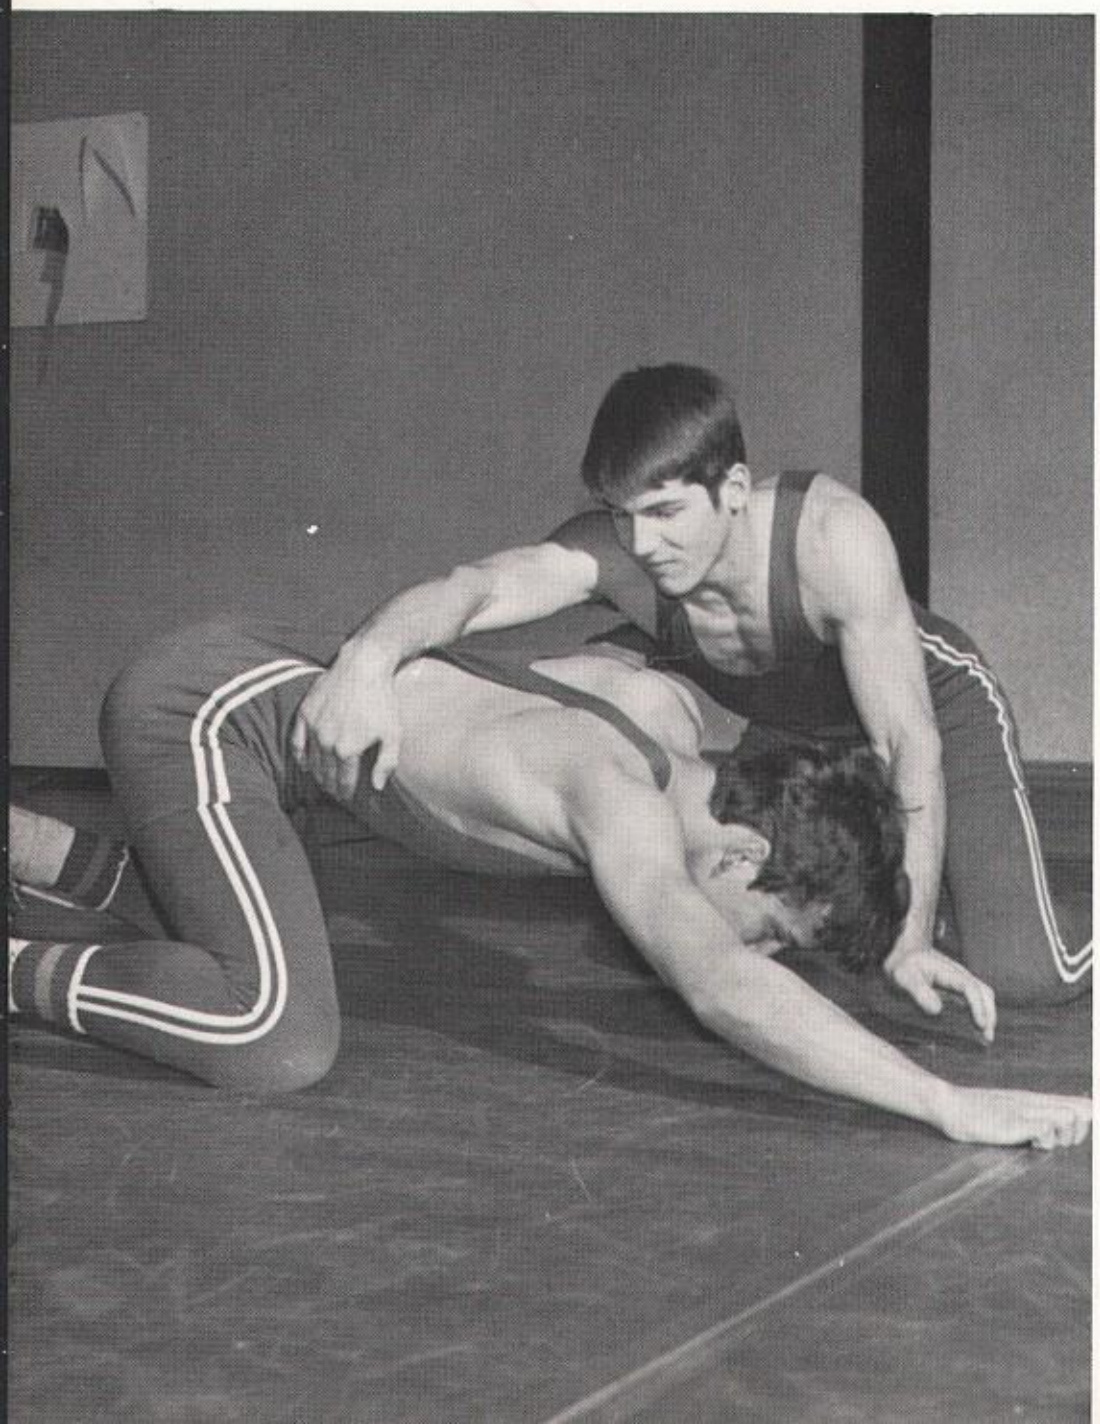
Two Grapplers Make District Matches



Wrestling is a sport that takes great discipline, strength and courage. The WHS grapplers have shown their stability in these traits. Many times a wrestler will deprive himself of food, just so he can wrestle. Of all school sports, wrestling demands more of the individual, a factor that breeds a certain type of character in the individual. The WHS wrestlers are growing and with their growth comes a better understanding of themselves, their sport and their goals. It takes a lot to be a wrestler and the WHS team has got what it takes....Spirit!

The Only Sport for Girls!!

Tennis is the sport for girls. A fine field of athletes performed for Washington in the form of our girls' tennis team. They competed on the junior varsity level and gained experience with each match. Next year they look forward to a varsity schedule and new experience. The addition of this sport will give WHS two well-rounded tennis teams.

Match After Match is Tennis!!

Match after match the tennis team volleys the ball. Looking forward to a good season this spring, the Patriots send a well balanced team on their way. Hopeful for victories the team will be playing with all their strength. This spring will bring new challenges on last year's experiences. The team is hopeful that the season will be a success.

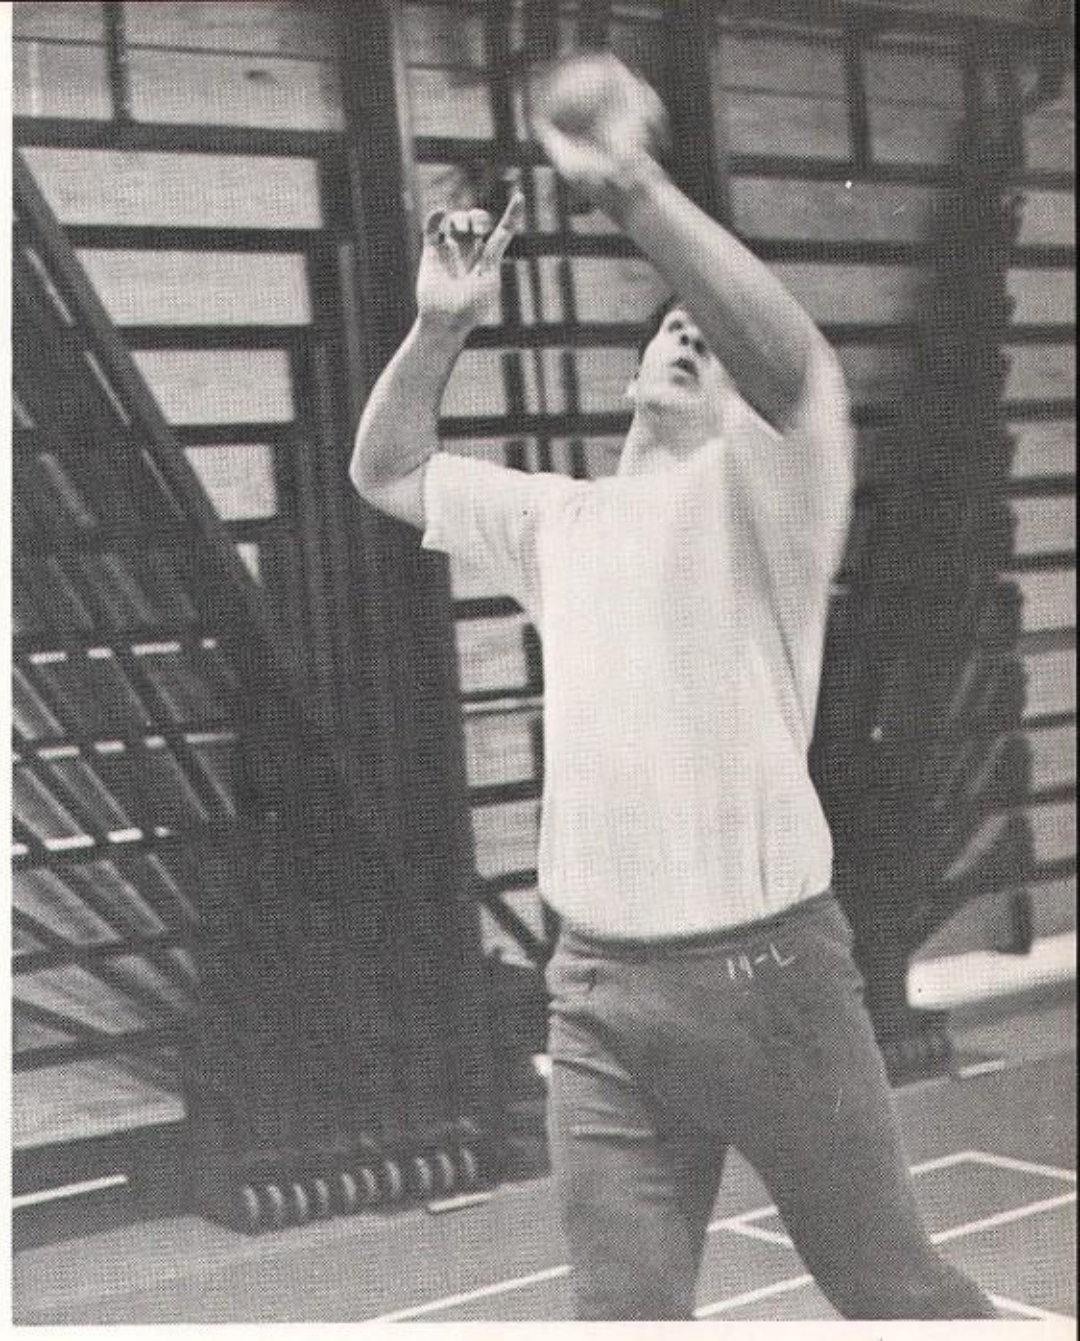
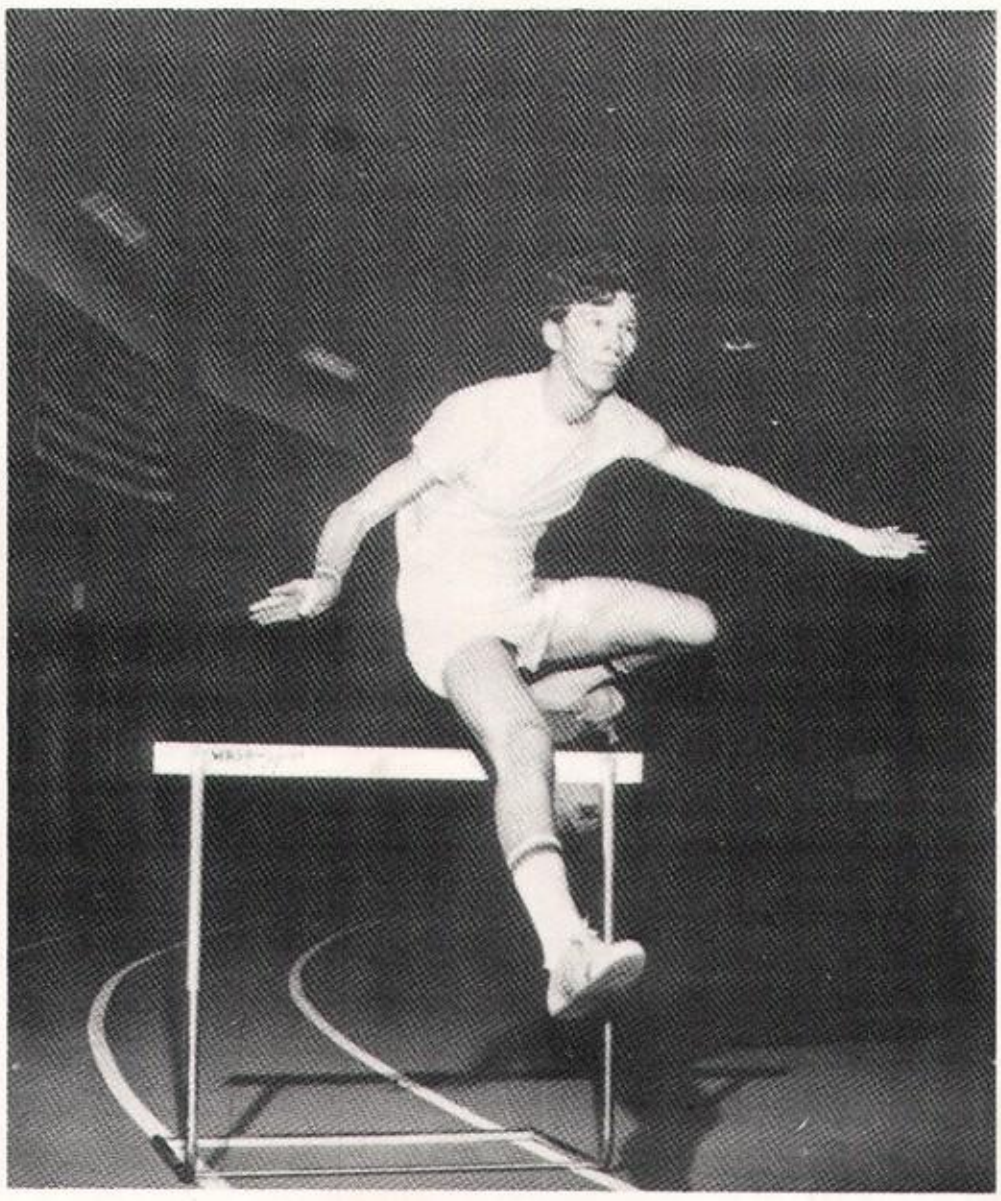
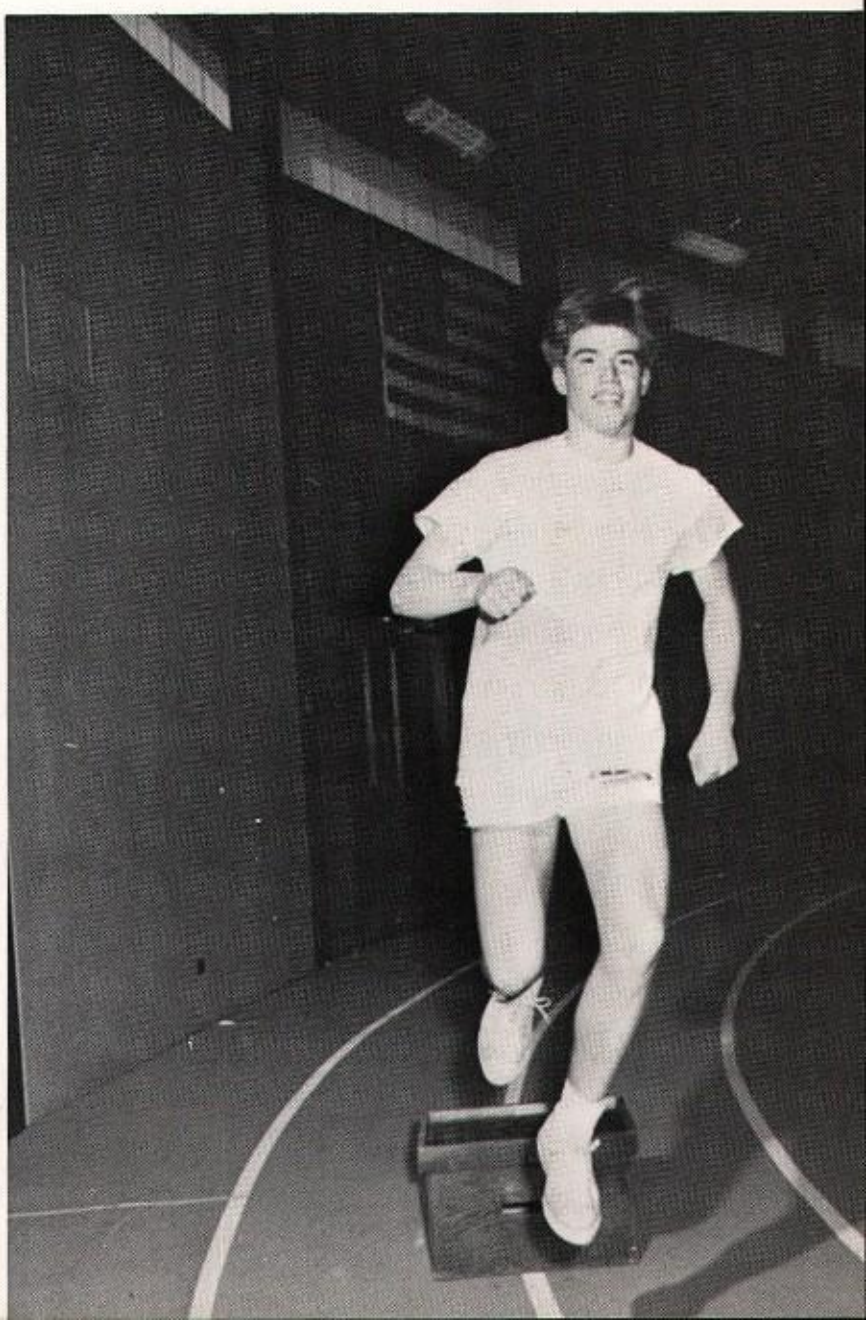
Randy Hester goes up and over the bar as the Patriots number one pole vaulter.



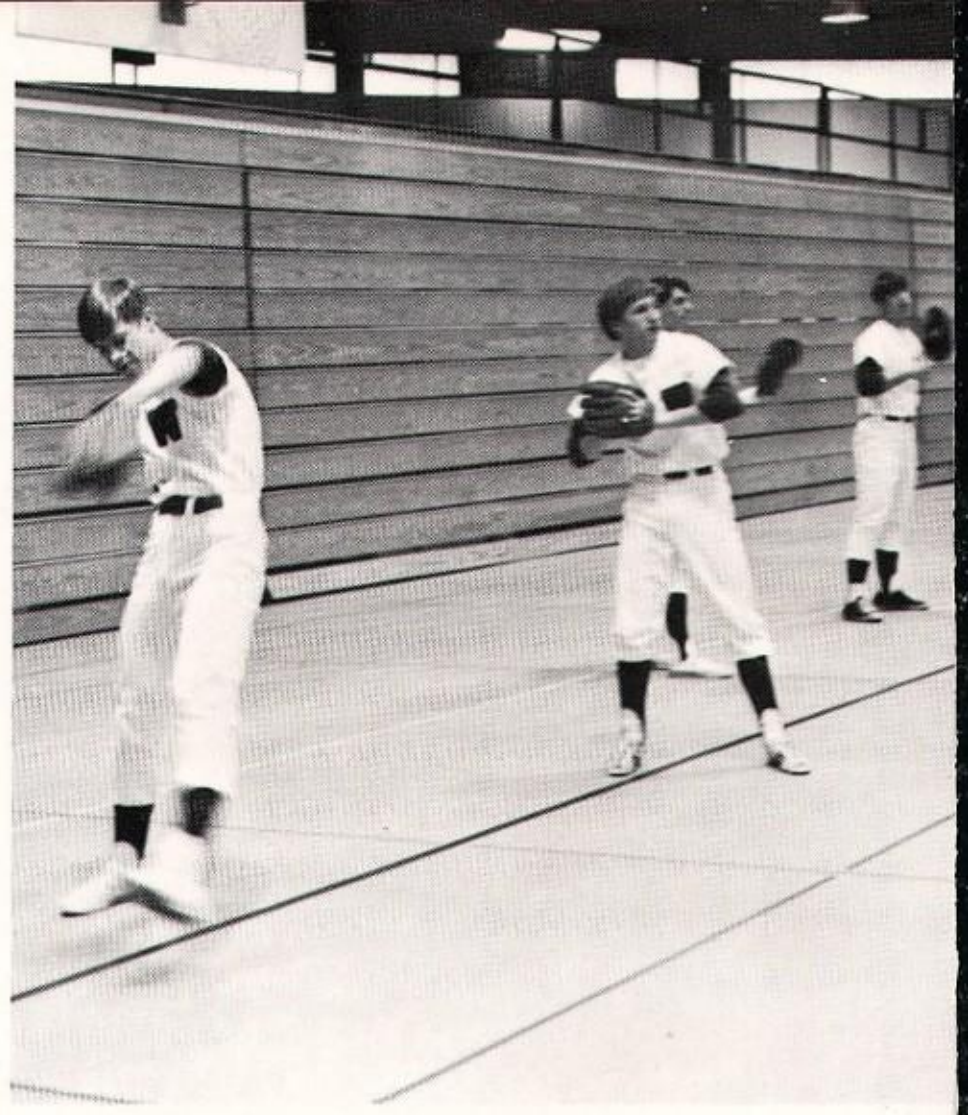
Dana LeDue in action as he puts the shot.





Baseball Team Hopes for High Finish in SPSL

Baseball is coming and the diamond is being readied for the opening of the season. Time is drawing near for the Patriots' first varsity baseball team to take the field. A high finish in the standings is their hope for this season.



Hans and Scott display unique styles in throwing.

Administration

Mr. Schafer and Mr. Kyllo take time out of their busy schedules to talk with students about student government.

We know the strength, we have the hope, and we are looking for tomorrow and what it brings.

We have the freedom other schools have been in search of. The administration has been more than a mere administration for they have been the guiding light that has molded the style of Washington High School. Mr. Schafer and Mr. Kyllo have given the students the insights on education and its importance for a future with a firm foundation.

Mrs. Eno works as a secretary and always has a smile for students.

Mrs. Anderson also works as a secretary and greets you everyday with a friendly hello.

And Counselors Work to Get W.H.S. Rolling

Mr. Ross Counselor

Mrs. Eastby Counselor

We sit and talk on and on about people who don't love but are filled with hate. We tell them how our love which is shared can change the world, but I don't see any world changing (outside my small circle of friends). I sure don't see any "cold" people wanting to share our "love" with us.

Our counselors try day in and day out to cope with the students needs and we feel they're doing a fine job.

The most revolutionary and perhaps least appreciated aspect of our educational program is uniquely individualized social studies department. The asethetic pleasure of mastering a foreign tongue has enticed over a hundred students to reap the benefits of our schools exceptional foreign language department.

Another pleasure that came to many students was that of realizing typing and shorthand weren't going to be as hard as everyone had said. After receiving background information it became easier and easier to understand that IBM typewriter.

Art at Washington this year is rather different from our past experiences.

We have the regular art class which is composed of sketching, painting, modeling, and learning principles of design and form; plus a new addition, crafts. This covers every form of creativity one can think of from antiquing old furniture, to paper-mache and modeling clay.

JUNIOR CLASS: "From wonder into wonder, existence opens."

Through this year of questions, failures, hopes, and successes, we, as individuals, have gained in both maturity and self-confidence. Although it has been difficult to adjust to a duo-class school this year, we learned that sometimes it is necessary to sacrifice something for a more valuable prize.

The junior class has proven to the entire school its willingness to search for answers to wonderings, in order to make for ourselves and others around us, a worthwhile existence.

SOPHOMORE CLASS: "Each day is a new beginning, each day, I am new."

Each year it becomes more and more apparent how important every individual day is in my life. I have realized that each moment is meant to be savored like a juicy steak or turkey dressing on Thanksgiving day, for soon it will be gone. Many of these precious experiences will be buried in time, but this first taste of high school life is one to surely be remembered as an open door to newness.

Washington High School a dream come true.

WHS students were given a newly developed system of education with freedom, a respnsbility students have sought throughout our generation.

A choice in education, a new system to be established, each class open only four days a week, independent research projects, seminars, and a 4-1-4 program. This system was proved workable by the WHS Student body.

WHS, open for the second time in history, made history with this new system. Students given the opportunity, accepted the challenge to start a new era in education.

Through continous work The Spirit of '70 staff tried to recreate this year of advancement in your yearbook. Special thanks go to Jeff Hill, assistant editor, for unending assistance in producing this yearbook, to Mr. Ehlers, yearbook advisor, for all the extra hours out of his busy schedule, to Mr. Palm, American Yearbook Company consultant, for his help in making this yearbook possible, and most of all to you, the students of Washington High School for making this year the first in education that it was.
